County Tax Levy Up $2 Million; Supervisors OK 5% Salary Hike

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

A record budget totaling $10,622,765, an increase of $3,222,188 over that of last year, was adopted by the Madison County Board of Supervisors Wednesday for the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1.

The board set tax levies to total $5,460,383, an increase of $2,164,890 over that of last year.

In presenting the budget, Nelson Hagauer, Granite City Township supervisor and chairman of the board's Finance Committee, commented that "changes in county government imposed by the new Illinois Constitution and the high cost of law and order are prime reasons for the enormous budget for 1971-72."

Supervisors approved a 5% salary increase for all employees, a longevity salary adjustment for the sheriff's deputies and jailers to cost about $10,000, and an appropriation of $30,925 to implement a data processing program.

Hagauer noted that the offices of county clerk, recorder of deeds and circuit clerk, formerly fee offices, are now part of the county general revenue budget.

Budget Increased

The budget provides for a number of new employees occasioned by the opening of the new nursing home and continuation of the shelter home, an investigator for each of the state's attorney's office and the public defender's office, and an assistant state's attorney for the tax department.

Under the new county board arrangement to take effect May 1, the chairman will be salaried, and for the seven months of the year, $5,833 was appropriated. The budget also provides for the new sheriff's deputies and additional cars, in addition to a service station supervisor, car washer and mechanic totaling $23,200 to take care of all sheriff's cars. The latter item nearly was removed from the budget and the funds may not be used.

Hagauer said that under the new tax collection plan, township collectors will become deputy-county collectors, increasing the collector's budget by $211,000, to pay deputy salaries.

Major Costs

Other major capital outlays include: Remodeling the nurses home for resident needs $30,000; data processing and computer study and survey, $30,000; county clerk's files to accommodate increased matter files due to increased voters 18 to 20 year old, $30,000.

County clerk's files to accommodate increased matter files due to increased voters 18 to 20 year old, $30,000. Sheriff's radio equipment, $4,500; court house repairs, $30,000; recorder of deeds index books, $16,500; new sheriff's cars, $44,922; acquisition of land and record center (county

County Board Assails Building Plans, Abolishes Commission

The Madison County Board of Supervisors dissolved the County Public Building Commission created a year ago during its meeting Wednesday morning.

The resolution, approved by a 36-10 vote, was presented by Jerome Klein of Collinsville Township who told the board it had the unanimous support of the new building and election study committee.

He said that the board "has tried for a year to get the commission to provide a building for voting machines."

After the commission was abolished, the board authorized a call for bids for construction of a steel service-storage center for the county's 410 new voting machines to be located on the grounds of the old county nursing home in Edwardsville.

Klein also objected to two plans proposed by the commission to purchase two blocks in downtown Edwardsville for construction of a new administration building which, with retention of lower-level interest, could cost the taxpayers $20 million, a cost imposed on taxpayers which he said would be without a referendum.

Frank Vivod of Collinsville Township complained that the commission had no intention of cooperating with the county board.

Rule Out Sites

The commission had ruled out location of buildings on county-owned property, including the spacious tuberculosis sanatorium grounds and the old nursing home grounds, as the property is over 600 acres and could not support large structures.

But Vivod pointed out that the federal government saw fit to build a seven-story high rise building for elderly people right over mine tunnels, that

Grand Jury to Get Results Of Probe in Pontoon Beach

Results of an investigation by the Madison County State's Attorney's office into alleged "improprieties" in the village of Pontoon Beach are to be presented to the county grand jury this afternoon, it was learned by the Press-Record today.

Dave Stalker, assistant state's attorney who has handled the matter, said he knew only that a "number of things" are involved in the investigation and said the evidence almost certainly will take more than one day for presentation before the grand jury.

A series of subpoenas were served Tuesday and yesterday on various Pontoon Beach officials and residents. Stalker declined to discuss specific areas of the investigation, but said the investigation has been under way "for some time" and now is completed.

Dirty Politics

Thomas L. Stalcoff, president of the Pontoon Beach village board, said yesterday that "I have only heard rumors and I would like to check into this and bring it to an end."

"I think it is just a matter of dirty politics and it makes me sick," he said.

Several members of the village board of trustees said they are unacquainted with the basis of the investigation and that "rumors" which they had checked out proved to be unfounded.

Among those subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury this afternoon were Louis Whit-

B & A Confectionery Held Up by Robbers

Two armed robbers escaped with an undetermined amount of money at noon Monday at the B & A Confectionery, 309 Buxton Ave.

Mrs. Arnie Barfield, on duty at the store, told police that two young men, 18 or 19, entered the store and obtained two bottles of soda which were warm.

As she was exchanging them for cold bottles, one of the men displayed a revolver and demanded all the money she had, while the other sprayed her with some type of tear gas substance. They left in a blue 1959 or 1960 auto parked in the alley, police said.

The one with the gun was described as being 6 feet tall, 200 pounds, with short black curly hair, fair complexion and wearing a light tan jacket. The other was 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 165 pounds, with long black hair, a moustache, dark complexion and wearing a blue plaid shirt.

'New Look' at Sewer Plan Urged

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Suggestions that Granite City engineers, for construction of secondary sewage treatment facilities revise some phases of their preliminary sewer project plans have been made by the Southwest Illinois Metropolitan Planning Commission, city council members learned during a regular meeting Monday night. The preliminary planning has been completed by the M-W, Inc., engineering firm of St. Louis, but SIMAPC engineers have informed the firm that certain changes in the plans may be necessary to satisfy state and federal agencies which will be responsible for allocating grants necessary to construction of the treatment facilities. Details of the proposed planning by M-W were discussed by the firm's engineers forming with SIMAPC representatives early this month.

Wilmarth pointed out that SIMAPC has "summarized" major points of concern to SIMAPC, regarding sewer system proposals for the Granite City area, and that these points, referred to in the letter "reflect questions which we anticipate will arise from local, state and federal reviews of the Granite City application for state and federal assistance to upgrade and expand the existing treatment facility."

Mayor Donald Farney said yesterday that he also has taken up the matter of the SIMAPC findings with M-W engineers and that "the firm has agreed to make changes according to the treatment facility."

Lich said that the further curtailing of operations this week will be in line with a long-term decrease in the working force made necessary by a lack of orders. He said the number of hourly wage employees has decreased from 1,156 in mid-August to 1,094.

Further decreases in employment may be expected to conform with production losses, but no further cuts are immediately anticipated, he said.

General Steel Curtails Foundry Work; Contract Deadline Nears

Sharp curtailment of foundry operations at the Castings Division of General Steel Industries were disclosed today by company officials.

Representatives of the United Steelworkers went into final-phase negotiations on a new working agreement.

The present contract of Steelworkers at St. Louis, sitting in the city, expires at midnight tomorrow under an extension approved Nov. 1 by union and company officials. No further extension had been granted up to noon today.

The curtailment in foundry operations results from "lack of orders," according to Richard Lich, president of the Castings Division, who told the Press-Record yesterday that the plant now is operating at "half of the workload necessary to keep the plant healthy." Consequently, he said, cutbacks have been necessary.

He said operation of the foundry will be on a specific work schedule rather than a full-time schedule. Portions of the noon and 4 p.m. shifts have been closed, Lich added.

1971 Loss Heavy

The announcement followed disclosure Tuesday by W. H. Gray Jr., president of GSI, that the firm will incur a much larger loss for 1971 than previously anticipated because two large orders for transit cars now in production by GSI's St. Louis Car Division cannot be completed at a profit.

Gray said that "Both of the contracts cover cars of advanced new design and the costs of getting into production have far exceeded the original estimates."

He said the 1971 loss is expected to be in the range of $1 million.

Neither the union nor the company would discuss the progress of negotiations today, although one union official remarked that "there still are a lot of issues on the table."

The United Steelworkers contract expired at midnight Sept. 30, but was extended by the Division of General Steel Industries, which acquired various positions in the engineering department until 1964 when he became corporate vice-president of Engineering and later corporate vice-president - Engineering and Research.

In 1968 he also assumed the duties of vice-president - Administration of the Castings Division and in 1969 first was appointed executive president of the Granite City plant.

He holds a bachelor and masters degrees in engineering from Washington University.

Mr. Lich and his wife, Pat, have a son, Richard Jr., a junior at Westminster College; a daughter, Christy, who is in her senior year at Lutheran High South; and a son, David, an eighth grader at St. Paul's Lutheran School.

The principal speaker is committed to civic activity at all levels in order to develop the industrial, economic, educational and spiritual potential of the Granite City area.

All members of the community are invited to the services.

Thanksgiving Services

Scheduled Wednesday

The Ministerial Alliance of the Granite City area will hold various positions in the engineering department until 1964 when he became corporate vice-president of Engineering and later corporate vice-president - Engineering and Research.

Worshippers will be welcomed by the Rev. Frank Christ, president of the Ministerial Alliance. A special Thanksgiving service will be presented by the Chancel choir of the host church, St. John United Church of Christ, a past president of the Alliance, who will seek to set the Thanksgiving stage of the presentation entitled, "The Great Action Producing Thanksgivings of All Time."

Moving forward from this perspective, Richard L. Lich, president of the Castings Division of General Steel Industries, will deliver the major address of the evening on the subject, "A Quad-City Action Producing Thanksgivings."

MORE ABOUT Sewer Plan

whether the use and capacity of existing combined sewers to serve the existing corporate area and planning would permit additional connections or extension of lines into unserved areas.

A program of sewer service to residents of Venice, Namoli and Chouteau Townships by construction of interceptor sewers that would carry township sewage to the Granite City treatment facilities now is being completed under sponsorship by Madison county. These interceptor lines would connect with the city's present combined sanitary and stormwater sewers.

Wilmarth, in his letter to the M-W officials, said in part:

"The City (and other Illinois communities) is subject to Regulation No. 203 of the Illinois EPA which requires secondary treatment by December 31, 1973. The manner of treatment is the responsibility of the consulting engineer and determination of conformance to State requirements is the responsibility of the Illinois EPA. The size of the treatment facility and the area which should be considered for service in order to eliminate duplication and promote orderly growth are of concern to Southwest Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency. The plant's size may be affected by the ability of the collection system to convey all the sewage to the treatment unit."

"The MW report envisions the use of an existing 78" combined sewer line to convey sewage from new areas of service to the treatment plant. The report on page 18 denotes that storm water run-off from a two-year frequency storm would be 89 c.f.s. It then notes that the capacity of the two sewers (108" and 84") to the pump station is 302 c.f.s. Thus, it can be seen that presently nearly twice as much run-off will occur as the systems can carry. The provision of sewers to new areas utilizing the present combined system which is overloaded during times of heavy rainfall will only complicate the problem.

"It is also questioned whether the two-year frequency for storm occurrence is representative of typical climatic conditions for this region, especially in an urban situation where heavy property losses could occur frequently. A ten or fifteen-year period may be more practical to minimize flooding and property losses."

"Although the City has separated some of its combined sewers (last project completed in 1967-1968), reports of flooding still persist indicating the calculations noted on page 18 of the report to be valid. News accounts from the May 25, 1971 Granite City Press-Record indicate flooding from rains occurring on the previous three days."

"A review of U. S. Weather Bureau records for these days show fairly heavy rain (2.02 inches over the 24-hour period of May 23, 1971). It is important to recognize that flooding occurred from these rain conditions even though they were considerably less than the rainfall recorded data set forth on page 17 of the MW report which shows a rainfall of 1.9 inches to occur in two hours at a two-year frequency."

"Based upon the foregoing material, which was discussed at our meeting, we raise the question as to the capacity of the sewers to take more sewage flow. Since additional connections could be adversely affected by such connections, it is felt that adequate assurance should be provided to the City, and those who will connect, that satisfactory service can be provided without backup or flooding of the existing combined sewers into private property with consequent extensive damage."

"If additional sewers are needed to convey combined sewage to the treatment facilities, will this affect the size and storm treatment capability of the sewage treatment unit? If so, this may require some redesign."

Traffic Slowed by 3 Car Accident

Traffic was snarled for nearly one hour as three cars collided on the south end of the McCambridge Avenue (Route 203) viaduct at 7:30 a.m. today.

The cars came to a halt blocking all but one lane of traffic in either direction and delaying the morning rush hour traffic approximately one-half mile in each direction.

The chain collision began when the car of Janet Campbell, 1212 Meridian Ave., southbound on the viaduct, suddenly to avoid striking another car and was struck from the rear by the car of Tom Orr Jr., police said. The impact spun the Campbell vehicle and it collided with the northbound car of Thelma Pewitt, Overland, Mo.

Venice School Board OKs Teacher Wage Refunds

Venice School Board members Monday night confirmed an earlier plan to deduct from teachers salaries the wage increases allowed at the beginning of the school year, and announced the deductions would be made in five installments.

The Venice school district activated salary raises for teachers on Aug. 29 despite nationwide uncertainty over such action in view of the wage and price freeze made effective on Aug. 14. School officials later were notified the action was in violation of the rules and that the money would have to be repaid.

Board members said the funds will be deducted from teachers salary checks during each of the next five semi-monthly payrolls, with repayments varying from $96.50 to a minimum of $327.30.

With the ending of the freeze this week, however, teachers salaries will be paid on the basis of a salary schedule adopted earlier this year as soon as definite instructions are received according to School Superintendent John O. Pier.

Finance Statements Approved. Minutes of a meeting on Oct. 18 and Nov. 1 were approved as well as a financial statement, amended by Pier to showing a balance of $63,775. Also approved was a report on the revolving fund with a balance of $642.31, and the activity fund with a $1,048.58 balance.

A request for the Venice Lincoln Technical Center to purchase boiler testing equipment and social study maps at a cost of $173 also was approved.

A lengthy discussion was held on repairing the roof of the gymnasium. No action was taken until complete specifications and bids can be secured and presented at the next meeting for a final decision by the board.

Due to the dissatisfaction of the board and school faculty of diplomas used in past years for graduating students, the board approved a decision to have diplomas which incorporate the names of graduates and the diplomas. They will purchase the diplomas from the Balfour Co. in St. Louis which will provide a better leather case and certificate at a price close to the previous cost.

Pier introduced a letter from insurance representatives providing medical insurance for the employees, reporting a decrease of one cent on the life insurance premium and an increase of $5.87 or approximately 20 percent on the medical insurance. The increase will amount to about $7,200 a year due to the increased claims made during the past year. The board agreed to obtain similar plans from other insurance companies before approving the current plan which is due for renewal on Dec. 1.

Plans were also completed to have some 20 pieces of electrical equipment in the school shop department grounded to stay within the present safety code and to get an estimate on installing a safety hood in the cafeteria to eliminate the possibility of a grease hazard.

Because of difficulty in keeping the furnaces in operating condition since installation three years ago, the board agreed to have a factory representative inspect the system and provide a detailed report on corrective measures for proper functioning.

Approved by board members, Fred Durrer, will attend a day-long meeting concerning school insurance to be held on Dec. 7 at Augustine's Restaurant in Belleville.

The teachers of the seventh and eighth grades requested permission to send students home when they had been tardy three times during a six-week period, with the stipulation that parents accompany the pupils for a school conference upon returning to classes. Approval was granted.

Among items approved for purchase was a ping pong table for the TMH class, and materials to construct rings for the chorus under the direction of Mrs. Juneeta Williams. Students in the school shop will do the work.

The plaques presented to Michael Boushara by the National Airmen's organization for his effort to get permission to have the American flag lowered to honor fallen comrades, were displayed at the meeting. October Canal Freight 4.2 Million Tons

Freight shipped through the Chain of Rocks Locks and canal during October fell below that of the previous month, dropping total shipments in the first 10 months of the year well below the total for the same period last year.

Officials predicted shipments would exceed 5-million tons last month and might exceed the all-time record of 5,373,775 tons shipped in October 1970. Last month's shipments amounted to 4,211,852 tons, according to the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

In September, shipments totaled 4,576,747 tons, dropping the tonnage for the year below last year's total for the first time.

The October shipments brought the total farther below last year's total for the same period, 40,988,317 tons as compared to 42,648,354 in the first 10 months of 1970.

HEALTH LAB TEST

Southern Illinois University President John S. Rendman listens intently as medical technologist Karen Friedman gives him instructions for a portion of the multi-phasic health test on the new mobile unit, Computa Lab, at the Southwestern Campus. The president was among the first of 100 administrators, faculty and students to participate in the health testing program sponsored by the University Health Service. The mobile unit is capable of testing 12 health parameters that are vital to a physical examination without the patient totally undressing. The University Health Service is stressing the need for more concern for preventive medical health practices, rather than crisis care.

State Rejects Venice Appeal for Aid

A notice from Arthur J. Bilek, chairman of the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, rejecting an appeal by the city of Venice for a police department remodeling program at the city hall was presented to the Council at its meeting Tuesday night.

Bilek said, "We found in 1970 that innumerable small requests for police facility remodeling and construction were depleting our funds without significant impact being effected on the Criminal Justice System. As a result, our policy board determined that for 1971 no proposal would be considered that would not result in a minimum grant of $100,000."

A letter from Frank Resnik, acting director of the Department of General Services, stating a donation of property for a new state office building had been turned down, and the building would be built in East St. Louis also was presented. Resnik said, "We have had a study prepared by consultants who urge that the best location for this building is in the central business district of East St. Louis, which is the major population center for the Metro-East region of Illinois. Placing the building there would also provide a substantial income-ment on the economic redevelopment of the East St. Louis area."

Traffic Lights to Go in Front of Maryville School

A decision to construct electric traffic signals in front of Maryville School, instead of at a nearby street intersection, was reached by school officials and highway officials yesterday in a meeting and inspection of the site of the school.

The traffic signals will be installed by Nankook township under specifications and plans approved by the Illinois Division of Highways.

Granite City School District No. 1 will maintain the lights and costs of power after installation, according to B. J. Davis, school superintendent, who was among those attending yesterday's meeting.

Attending the meeting in addition to Davis were Fred Barlow, traffic field engineer of District 8 of the Illinois Division of Highways; Robert U. Gaines, state design engineer; Norman Hall, president of the Maryville School PTA; and chairman of the Tri-City Chamber of Commerce Traffic Committee; Kenneth C. Waggoner, state traffic field technician; Don Stucke, school board treasurer; and Albert E. Bell, Nankook township highway commissioner.

Installation of electric traffic signals to protect pupils crossing Maryville Road were planned following an accident early this year in which two young girls were struck by an auto. One of them was injured fatally.

Nankook township will finance cost of the installation and will include signals at Krainer School in State Park Place. Cost of both installations will approximate $20,000.

Miss Gail Fenton Is Married in Caseyville

Urns of yellow chrysanthemums on the altar, lighted tapers in aisle candelabra and white satin bows on the pews provided an autumn setting Nov. 13 at the United Methodist Church, Caseyville, for the wedding of Miss Gail Fenton and Terry Neidhardt.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a high Victorian neckline and long full sleeves, featuring a cascade of white lace.

The groom wore a tuxedo. The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Elmer Fenton, a great-uncle of the bride, officiated at the 7 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of pure white peau de soie designed with an Empire bodice, featuring a yoke of Chantilly lace, a high Victorian neckline and long full sleeves cuffed with matching lace. Small motifs of lace, etched with pearls and iridescent sequins, encircled the waist and a wide band of lace bordered the hemline.

A total look, mantilla veil edged with lace cascaded into a full sweep train and she carried and oval bouquet of white baby's breaths interlaced with lily of the valley.

Miss Pam Mount, a cousin of the bride, was honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Miss Ronda Fenton, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Doreen Klekamp, a cousin of the bride.

They were gown in identical dresses of moss green chiffon with a high neckline, trimmed with a multi-colored ribbon. The ribbon was repeated on the cuffs of the long sleeves, outlined the yoke and encircled the waistline.

Former Resident Inducted Into College Hall of Fame

Ron Hall, a former Granite City resident and presently head football coach of Liberty High School in Marshall, Mo., was inducted into the Missouri Valley College Hall of Fame this month.

Hall graduated from Granite City High School in 1955 and headed for Missouri Valley College. There he played defensive safety and wingback during his four years of undergraduate work. He was selected to the All-Conference team in 1958 as a running back. In his senior year he played in the post-season Tangerine Bowl.

After graduation, he was selected by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the 1959 football draft and played with the Steelers until being drafted again in 1960, this time into the U. S. Army. While at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., he signed a contract with the newly-formed Boston Patriots of the American Football League and played with the team seven years. He set club records for three interceptions in one game, 11 interceptions in one season and 31 interceptions in his career.

He was an AFL All-Pro in 1963-64 and played in the AFL All-Star game in 1964. In 1967 he suffered an ankle injury in a game against San Diego that ended his pro career.

He by-passed an opportunity to play with the Cincinnati Bengals in 1968 to become an assistant coach in a Kansas City public school. The next year he was named assistant coach at Liberty High School and one season later he took over the head coaching spot for the team.

In two years he has built his Blue Jays team into conference champions, the first team from the school since 1935 to earn the championship.

He and his wife, Jane, have three children, Tracey, Clay and Chris. The family agrees that the family life of a coach is far less hectic than that of a professional football player. "I don't hunger to go back to playing football. It is over now and I have something else to do," Hall said.

Hall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Cochran, 3005 Myrtle Ave.

Track, Field Work Delayed

The probability of cold weather has postponed the beginning of construction of $81,500 in track and field facilities at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Marvin C. Gaston, director of architectural and engineering service at SIU-SW, said the advent of the winter season and the unpredictability of weather conditions would delay construction until early spring.

Bids will be taken sufficiently in advance of the construction season to allow ordering of materials and equipment by the successful bidder.

Gaston estimated that construction should begin in late March or mid-April with a 60-day period for completion.

The track will be a quarter-mile, eight-lane, rubber-asphalt oval built west of and abutting the soccer field. Plans also call for the construction of a steel-reinforced pond, and high jump, long jump, javelin, shot put, discus throw and pole vaulting runways and pits.

Funds for the track will come from the Athletic Fund-Physical Facilities account, a restricted fund which does not involve tax monies. Full-time students pay $10 per quarter to the athletic fund as part of their student activity fee.

The project was approved at the October meeting of SIU's Board of Trustees.

Benefit Cage Game Friday to Aid Wilma Chestnut Fund; Local Family

A basketball contest to benefit the Wilma Chestnut Fund and also the family of a 10-year-old Eagle Park girl who died Nov. 3 in a freak accident will take place at 7 p.m. Friday in the gymnasium of Venice High School.

The benefit game will match a team of Venice High School alumni against the Continental Can Co. team of St. Louis. The event is being staged under the auspices of the Young Black Citizens Social Club of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area.

Proceeds from the game will be divided between the Wilma Chestnut Fund and the family of Bertha Govan, 10, who died after suffering a fractured neck when a raised window fell on her while she was crawling through it into her home.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Govan, 2004 Harrison St., Eagle Park, Bertha was a pupil at Venice Grade School.

Blinded by Attacker
The Wilma Chestnut Fund was started by area citizens after the young St. Louis girl was viciously blinded by an attacker last month after she was robbed. The mutilation was an attempt to prevent the girl from identifying a theft suspect.

Miss Chestnut recently was released from a St. Louis hospital and is undergoing rehabilitation therapy. Physicians report she is adapting well to training and commented that "her morale and attitude are remarkable."

A total of $75,000 has been contributed to the Wilma Chestnut Fund, mostly in small donations, since the tragic incident was reported.

Tickets at Door
Tickets priced at $1 for adults and 50 cents for students may be purchased at the door immediately before tomorrow night's game. Several members of the sponsoring organization reside in the Venice-Madison area.

A game featuring St. Mark's case squad, previously scheduled for Friday night in the Venice gym has been re-set for Monday evening. Venice School District officials said this week.

7 Stars at Park Banquet

Seven major league athletes will be special guests at the Granite City Park District annual Sports Award Banquet, at 6:15 p.m. Monday at the Granite City High School cafeteria.

The special sports stars are Joe Hoerner, pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies; Dan Dierdorf, offensive tackle for the St. Louis football Cardinals; and Dal Maxvill, Joe Torre, Steve Carlton, Joe Hague and Mike Shannon all of the St. Louis baseball Cardinals.

A highlight of the evening will be the awarding of 133 trophies to teams participating in the park's softball, tennis, football, basketball and baseball programs.

Henry Gabriel, president of the Granite City Park District, will serve as toastmaster. Dr. L. Jim Anshus, pastor of the Central Christian Church, will give the invocation.

Park Commissioner Milton Worthen will present the official welcome to the 800 expected to be in attendance.

The top award will be the annual park district appreciation award. Barry Loman, district vice-president, will make the presentation.

Service awards will also be presented by Paul Thompson, park commissioner.

Following adjournment the guest athletes will be available for personal autographs.

Undeclared Warrior Kickers Win 3 Games, Record 160

The undefeated Granite City High School soccer team added three victories to its season record this week with a 6-0 win over St. Henry's in Belleville Monday, a 5-1 victory over Assumption here Tuesday and a 3-0 defeat which they handed to St. John's in St. Louis yesterday.

The St. John's victory was a highlight of the season as the rugged Lions squad earned the championship in the St. Louis Metropolitan Soccer League this year, their second consecutive title. The Lions also won the St. Louis Invitational Tournament this year. The squad suffered two defeats this season, both by the Warriors, including a 2-0 battle here Sept. 23.

The game marked the first time the Granite City team has been outscored. The Lions scored 13 shots on goal while giving the Warriors only 10. Glenn Williams, Warrior goalie, stopped several near-perfect goal attempts.

At 95 minutes into the game, Jim Forrester found an open hole through the middle of the defensive line and passed to Bill Brombauer who outran the Lion's fullback for a goal. A wind, sun and field disadvantage kept the Warriors from scoring again in the half but as the teams reversed sides the Warriors utilized the advantage for two goals in the second period.

The first came on a pass from Randy Worthen on the right to Jim Conway on the left side. Conway's kick was a surprise, catching the Lion's goalie on the wrong side of the net.

The final goal came with 10 minutes left when Forrester booted a hard penalty kick into the first half and made the Pioneers' only goal in the second half to tie the score.

At nine minutes into the first half, Dan Noth was called on a penalty for being in the penalty area and Goldschmidt's kick almost squeezed by goalie Glenn Wilson but was deflected.

Ten minutes later Duke took a pass from Duncan for the first Warrior point.

The Pioneers were the first to draw blood in the second half as four minutes into the period Goldschmidt hit from the right side.

At eight minutes into the period, the Warriors resumed the lead with a point by Worthen on a pass from Duke and at 15 minutes when they scored on a pass from Brombauer.

With a 3-1 lead, Coach John Selmeier began substituting sophomores and second string juniors into the lineup despite numerous threats from the Pioneer's offensive.

Brombauer took a pass from Mark Voegelz at 20 minutes and blasted a hard kick from 25 yards out for his third point and the Warriors led 4-0 at the half.

At 12 minutes into the second half, Randy Worthen scored a shot which rebounded from the top crossbar to Chris Harizal in front of the net who tapped it in.

Carl Duke scored on a pass from John Conway at 20 minutes into the second period to end the scoring at 6-0.

In Tuesday's action, Assumption's Don Goldschmidt, a resident of Granite City, gave the Warriors a few headaches as he barely missed a penalty kick in the first half and made the Pioneers' only goal in the second half to tie the score.

Five Progressive Decades Reviewed at Business Women's Anniversary Dinner

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

An evening filled with nostalgia and reminiscing mixed with a presentation of the 50th Anniversary dinner was the Granite City Business and Professional Women's 50th anniversary dinner last night.

Seventy-three members and guests attending the affair at the Officers' Club of the Granite City Armory Installation heard highlights of the organization's history since it was founded on Nov. 4, 1921.

In a "Through the Years" program, which invoked pleasant memories for many present, high points of the past half-century were relived in pantomime, story and song.

By the club's first president, Mrs. Catherine Michel, was a presentation of a Sesqui-centennial Flag to the city in later years—an impressive record of civic involvement was evident.

Regret was expressed when it was learned Mrs. Pearl Ryckman, a charter member and past president, was unable to attend, sent a letter and a $50 check, the latter to be used to further a current project of the club.

Past presidents attending and honored at the dinner were Mrs. Winifred Costello, 1949; Mrs. Elvira Thurber, 1950-51; Mrs. Ruth Huxel, 1957-58; Mrs. Dolores Allen, 1959-60; Mrs. Verna Lengyel, 1961-62; Mrs. Verne Wortman, 1963-64; Mrs. Dorothy Davis, 1964; Mrs. Bischoff, 1965; Mrs. Nina Bigley, 1966; and Mrs. Emily Allen, the immediate past president.

Mrs. Allen presently serves as chairman of District 14, Illinois Business and Professional Women's Clubs, a position held in 1949 by Mrs. Thurber and in 1953 by Mrs. Ryckman.

Congratulatory telegrams and letters were read from many individuals, including a message from Mrs. Oster Underwood of Nashville, Tenn., president of the National Federation of Busness and Professional Women. Mrs. Catherine Burton, Illinois BPW official, spoke briefly, noting the challenges involved in what women have yet to accomplish. She asked members to write U. S. Senators Charles Percy and Adlai Stevenson III, urging the Illinois senators to vote in favor of the "equal rights amendment" which has already passed the House of Representatives.

Community Project

As the background of the trip here for the dinner and sending their regrets were charter members, Misses Ella and Clara Hoebecher. The former residents provided a well-preserved, original newspaper clipping from the Dec. 6, 1921 issue of the Press-Record which described the first dinner meeting of the Granite City BPW Club. The affair attracted 15 women and took place at Granite City Steel Co.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Buenger, the club's first president, also unable to attend, sent a letter and a $50 check, the latter to be used to further a current project of the club.

Past presidents attending and honored at the dinner were Mrs. Winifred Costello, 1949; Mrs. Elvira Thurber, 1950-51; Mrs. Ruth Huxel, 1957-58; Mrs. Dolores Allen, 1959-60; Mrs. Verna Lengyel, 1961-62; Mrs. Verne Wortman, 1963-64; Mrs. Dorothy Davis, 1964; Mrs. Bischoff, 1965; Mrs. Nina Bigley, 1966; and Mrs. Emily Allen, the immediate past president.

Mrs. Allen presently serves as chairman of District 14, Illinois Business and Professional Women's Clubs, a position held in 1949 by Mrs. Thurber and in 1953 by Mrs. Ryckman.

Congratulatory telegrams and letters were read from many individuals, including a message from Mrs. Oster Underwood of Nashville, Tenn., president of the National Federation of Busness and Professional Women. Mrs. Catherine Burton, Illinois BPW official, spoke briefly, noting the challenges involved in what women have yet to accomplish. She asked members to write U. S. Senators Charles Percy and Adlai Stevenson III, urging the Illinois senators to vote in favor of the "equal rights amendment" which has already passed the House of Representatives.

the Bell Telephone Co. is going to erect a $10 million addition over tunnels and that a $30 million shopping center will be erected in Belleville directly over an abandoned mine.

He also suggested that the city of Edwardsville should object to removal of downtown business buildings from the tax rolls.

Robert Ford of Wood River Township claimed "the only way we can get new space for needed office space is through a building commission. They do provide a function as a source of information for the city to the county (the phrase on cost was disputed). I see nothing wrong in allowing them to continue."

Marshall Smith, the board's legal advisor, stressed that without the building commission, "you aren't going to build a building."

School Board Hires Firm For Administrative Study

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Granite City Board of Education hired a consulting firm to conduct a detailed study of the school district administration during a meeting Monday night.

The board selected the firm of Engelhardt & Engelhardt, management consultants, to interview representatives of two firms at a previous meeting. The other was Statton, Leggett & Associates.

The Engelhardt firm, which proposed a fee of $8,000, will complete the study in two phases.

The first will be concerned with administrative matters that exist and suggestions for solving them, the school board and its role, job descriptions and "you aren't going to build a building."

The second will involve fact gathering and analysis, classification of personnel, proper salary relationships and priorities in Granite City in relationship to what is paid outside the district.

Consideration will be given to knowledge required for the job, previous experience, scope and complexity of job, relative responsibilities and supervisory responsibilities.

Jobs will be analyzed through the use of a questionnaire, personal interviews and observations.

The administration had offered to conduct an in-district survey of administrative personnel and district and other areas of similar size if the board decided a general study of the entire district by outside member George Moore pointed out the desirability of obtaining the outside consultants.

Tax Sheltered Annuities
The board approved a change in the working agreement with Teachers Federation Local 743 concerning tax sheltered annuities.

The change, approved by the local, will honor only flexible purchase TSA contracts, the same as previously, but now contracts containing life insurance provisions will be acceptable if the insurance company agrees to administrative regulations of the school business office.

Previously contracts containing life insurance provisions were unacceptable. But it was noted in the resolution that the Internal Revenue Service had altered its regulations permitting the use of life insurance in tax sheltered annuity programs under specified conditions.

Speaking on the subject as it affects teachers on 20-year and 20-year B & S's was Max Forbes, Granite City High School teacher. Details on arrangements will be made following conference with the teachers union.

Custodial Employment
The board adopted a revised policy on custodial employment procedure, in which three candidates will be interviewed for a position to be filled, and at least one other for each additional position.

Previously an applicant at the top of the list generally was employed.

James Coffey, business agent of Building Service Employees Local 98 objected, preferring the current practice, though agreeing with other points in the procedures. But board member Monroe Wood said he would be at the discretion of the board. He said some applicants will be more in need of a job than others, and some would be more qualified.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Anita Bauer, EMH teacher, effective Nov. 25, and hired Mrs. Catherine D. Hillen, 25, of 2123 Richmond, to replace her.

Seventy-three members and guests attending the affair at the Officers' Club of the Granite City Armory Installation heard highlights of the organization's history since it was founded on Nov. 4, 1921.

In a "Through the Years" program, which invoked pleasant memories for many present, high points of the past half-century were relived in pantomime, story and song.

By the club's first president, Mrs. Catherine Michel, was a presentation of a Sesqui-centennial Flag to the city in later years—an impressive record of civic involvement was evident.

Regret was expressed when it was learned Mrs. Pearl Ryckman, a charter member and past president, was unable to attend, sent a letter and a $50 check, the latter to be used to further a current project of the club.

Past presidents attending and honored at the dinner were Mrs. Winifred Costello, 1949; Mrs. Elvira Thurber, 1950-51; Mrs. Ruth Huxel, 1957-58; Mrs. Dolores Allen, 1959-60; Mrs. Verna Lengyel, 1961-62; Mrs. Verne Wortman, 1963-64; Mrs. Dorothy Davis, 1964; Mrs. Bischoff, 1965; Mrs. Nina Bigley, 1966; and Mrs. Emily Allen, the immediate past president.

An evening filled with nostalgia and reminiscing mixed with a presentation of the 50th Anniversary dinner was the Granite City Business and Professional Women's 50th anniversary dinner last night.

Hairdressers Use Steel Theme to Win

Local members of Elite Hairdressers Affiliate 33 of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association returned this week from the Illinois state convention in Chicago having won for the third time top honors in the "Parade of Affiliates."

Conducted each year at the conference, the "Parade of Affiliates" contest involves each chapter in the state which must depict through beauty and originality of design a leading industry, an historical event or a person of renown pertinent to their specific area.

Affiliate 33 members chose to focus their 1971 entry on the steel industry. Judges at the convention found the local presentation of exceptional quality and awarded Affiliate 33 the coveted first place award.

The presentation featured Mrs. Dee Cochran of Granite City as the model. She was costumed in blue and silver, representing the color of steel. Her long blond tresses were laced with silver filaments and topped with a sparkling miniature building attached with tiny brick stacks.

Mrs. Cochran was surrounded with a silver cylinder, made to resemble a steel mill brick stack, with make-believe flames shooting from the crown. As she walked along a raised platform, a poem was read which described the sounds and sights of an open hearth operation.

Author of the poem was Mrs. Dorothy Line and Mrs. Judy Broshaw designed the lavish costume. Both women are local residents.

Other members of the local chapter assisted in preparing the winning "Parade of Affiliates" entry.

BRIDAL SHOWER HONORS

MISS BARBARA KENNERLY

Miss Barbara Kennerly was honored at a bridal shower this week given at the home of Mrs. Jenny Meyer of St. Louis, an aunt of the prospective groom. Miss Kennerly will marry Clint Potter Jr., an illustrator in the drafting department at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss., on Jan. 8, at Central Christian Church. Both are local residents.

Games were played and prizes were awarded. A wedding bells theme was displayed throughout the house.

The guest list included Mesdames Jean Lindsey, Phyllis Miller, Mildred Ruff, Ruth Lindsey, Melba Angel, Viola Bradshaw, Lorraine Potter, Sharon Lindsey, Norma Bradshaw, Madeline Bedwell, Nita Hildebrand, Nancy Potter, Joanne Russell, Juanita Aubuchon, Maude Saladin, Imo Potter, Kathryn Zboray, Pearl Kennerly, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. Don, Miss Aubuchon and Pattie Meyer.

Miss Kennerly attended Belleville Junior College and is presently a student at SIU-SW, majoring in nursing.

Her fiancé attended Belleville Junior College two years before entering the U. S. Air Force.

Mrs. Dee Cochran, at left, whose brilliant silver-blue costume and background accouterments representing the local steel industry won top honors at the Illinois Hairdressers and Cosmetologists convention for local affiliate members. Smoothasilk' Is Chapter Theme

"Smoothasilk" was the theme of the November social meeting of the Eta Chapter of the Phi Tau Omega, held at Vincent's Restaurant in Florissant, Mo., Tuesday evening.

After dinner, the evening was spent playing cards with prizes won by Mesdames Martha Ruth Thomas and Mary Hassler, and Mesdames Catherine Powers, Judy Adams and Margaret Yackel.

A carnival featuring all types of games with prizes for everyone will be held in conjunction with the "Black Cat Barbeque" at Maryville School, 4651 Maryville Road, from 4 to 8 p.m. Friday. The event is sponsored by the Maryville PTA.

Games planned in three categories for children, teenagers and adults, include a rolling ball game, ring toss and basketball pitch, among others.

Mrs. Daphne Hodges, a teacher in the lower intermediate level, will be one of the "barkers" at the carnival trying to entice the customers to participate in the activities.

Sweet Adelines Benefit Show Saturday

Tickets are now available at Graham's Book Store for the Collinsville Chapter of Sweet Adelines Show, to be staged at 8 p.m. Saturday in the auditorium at Webster School in Collinsville.

If purchased in advance of the show, the tickets cost $1.50 each, or $2 at the door. Children under 12 years will be admitted for 50 cents each.

The featured quartet will be the "Junior Edition," a group of young men who organized in February 1970 and two months later placed fourth in the Illinois District novice quartet contest.

The group fast became a popular attraction in Chicago—their home area—and has since won acclaim in other areas of the state for their diversified repertoire of songs, both old and new.

Several members of the Sweet Adelines Collinsville Chapter are from Granite City, according to Lee Phelps, president. The group recently voted to donate proceeds from the colorful show to the proposed Collinsville-Edwardsville hospital building fund, a project supported by the chapter the past two years.

Quadrillions interested in joining the Sweet Adelines are invited to call 344-6546, or contact Phelps at 109 Third St., Collinsville.

Dear Nana—Unusual Knickknacks From Bottles; Exchange Stamp Club Offer

By JACKIE STEFANICH
Copley News Service

Dear Nana:
I've been reading your column with interest, particularly about the hobby projects you've mentioned.

As I was in hopes you might have the instructions for the knickknacks you see made from old bottles.

My grandson saw some recently that he dearly loved. And I'd like to find out how they are made so I can help him with this hobby.

Any information you can give me on this type of a hobby will be greatly appreciated.

Old Bottles:
Sorry, but I'm not familiar with any hobby that uses old bottles.

However, I'll certainly keep you in mind if I do find the instructions for this project. And you might contact your local hobby or arts and crafts shops. They usually have a display of the latest hobby items.

Dear Nana:
In July a letter to you was published in our local paper asking you for stamps for the lady's grandson. You replied you didn't wish to send her any but duplicates. That is your prerogative, but would you please send the lady's name and address? Because I have stamps I'd be very happy to give her grandson.

You would obviously have far greater chance at foreign and/or unusual stamps than she. So I would like to send her the stamps, from a foreign country that I get.

Thank you.
Mrs. J. P. H.
I'd be very happy to send you the name and address of the lady who wanted stamps for her grandson's collection.

But you neglected to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply.

Dear Nana:
I read your column all the time and enjoy it very much. I wonder if the lady who has a son who lives in Europe would have an extra stamp of two.

I have a 10-year-old grandson who has a stamp collection. And he would be so happy to get some foreign stamps.

I'm enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and hope I can get as many as are available for my grandson's collection.

Dear Stamp Collectors:
I believe the following letter will be of interest to all of those who would like to exchange duplicate stamps.

Dear Nana:
The column that mentioned stamp collecting interested me in it, and as this is my hobby, too.

I have several copies of the following letter.

many U.S. stamps since the 1940s and would be happy to send you two of each that I have for your boxes for your grandchildren if they would be helpful to you.

I'm sure many of your readers collect stamps and they doubtless have duplicates they would like to trade. I know I have many that I'd like to exchange.

Is there any way you can get us in touch with each other? Stamps could be traded on an even catalog-value basis.

Most of us don't have much money anymore to invest in our hobby. In this way we can keep our collection active at only the postage cost.

Anyone interested in joining my exchange stamp club please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Nana for further information.

Dear Nana:
I'm not in a home for the aged, but I'd sure like to have your hobby projects, mentioned in your column.

It might help me keep my mind while I can still use my hands.

Thank you kindly and God bless you.
Mrs. E. U. G.

Dear Mrs. E. U. G.:
As per your request, I've sent the instructions for all the hobby projects I have. And I certainly hope they'll help you pass the time.

And as you live in a large retirement community, I'd like to suggest that you contact your local retirement center. They have many hobby classes and group activities that might be of interest to you.

Being alone too much may be part of your trouble.

Demos to Change System Of Selecting Delegates

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service
SPRINGFIELD — Democrats will change their system of selecting delegates to next year's national nominating convention. The changes come about because of a law passed by the General Assembly earlier this year. Just how strong Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley will be in the new situation isn't quite determined, but he is expected to carry his usual weight.

The change in the delegation situation was allowed through the passage of legislation in this year's General Assembly. The change was urged by a special commission within the national Democratic Party which was formed after the Chicago convention.

Republicans aren't expected to make any major changes in their method of selecting the delegates. It is expected their delegates will be elected from the congressional districts. Two will be elected from each of the districts along with two alternates and 10 delegates along with their alternates will be named at the state GOP convention. Presently it is expected that in the main the GOP delegates will declare their support for President Nixon. Under the new law the delegates can run on the ballot committed to a specific candidate or they may run as uncommitted delegates. By declaring for a specific candidate it could mean that Illinois' primary election on March 21 might see some national figures campaigning here.

There are reports filtering down that Daley will try to get all of the delegates from the Chicago area to run on an uncommitted ticket. Even though running on a committed basis has no legal binding, it is reported that the mayor would rather have as many "free delegates" as possible. Of course with the most or large uncommitted force at the convention would mean a larger bargaining power.

Indications are that presently the Democratic Party's runner in the presidential sweepstakes, Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie, is taking a long hard look at Illinois delegates. It is doubtful that he will ask individuals to file for the delegates spot remains to be seen. It is doubtful that he will since he wouldn't want to cross the state's top Democrat, Daley.

SW Bell to Issue $200 Million in Common Stock

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has filed an application with the Illinois Commerce Commission to issue $200 million worth of common stock to be sold to the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in early 1972.

Proceeds from the proposed issue would be applied toward payment of obligations incurred in providing additional and improved telecommunications facilities throughout Southwestern Bell's territory.

The company last increased its outstanding stock in January, 1965, when it sold $100 million worth of common stock to American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Southwestern Bell furnishes telecommunications services in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and a portion of Illinois, including the Quad-City area.

'Co-Ed' System at Geneva Shows Signs of Success

By BOB ESTILL
Copley News Service

Springfield—A wall is slowly being torn down in Illinois juvenile correctional institutions. It's the barrier separating the boys from the girls, the curtain creating unisex situations unlike life on the outside.

Correctional administrators now are questioning the past practice of having separate institutions for boys and girls. They're wondering if boys and girls might find it easier to relate on the outside if they've worked, played and learned together while under the state's control.

The wall hasn't toppled, but the first bricks were removed in July when the 76-year-old Illinois State Training School for Girls at Geneva became the state's first and only co-educational juvenile facility.

Some of the 170 youths at Geneva, 18 are boys transferred from all-male institutions after being screened and judged on their ability to get along with others. The male enrollment is to reach 50 within a year.

Slightly more than half of the youths there are the "runaways," the repeated truants, of youngsters whose involvement with drugs, alcohol or sex brought them into classes with their parents and the law. The others "run the gamut from petty theft to armed robbery and homicide," according to Stanley Levine, assistant superintendent at the school.

Most are only 15 or 16. Their stay at Geneva is generally short, the average being about six months, but some are held there until the age of 21. At 21 those who come from the juvenile courts are free and clear to return to the outside, ready or not. Juveniles sentenced for felonies are sent to adult institutions when they reach 21 if they haven't completed their sentence or won parole.

The goal is to place them back in the community as soon as they can be made ready, and Levine believes going "co-ed" creates a more "desirable and normal" atmosphere for making that adjustment.

Until July, the only contacts between the girls and boys were occasional dances sponsored by the institutions. Now they go to school and have recreational programs on campus and make occasional off-campus trips—with a chaperone at a discreet distance—to dances and a nearby amusement park. The boys live on the grounds at a cottage at the opposite end of the grounds from where the girls' cottages are located—and there are counselors in the cottages to discourage "sleepwalking."

Signs of Progress
The experiment has been too short-lived to make any sweeping claims, but Levine said there have been few problems and some noticeable signs of progress. He believes the concept could be extended to other juvenile institutions, but so far there's been only talk and no definite plan.

"All the evidence isn't in yet, but we can see more of an effort at grooming by both boys and girls," he said. "They're a little more careful in their language, despite occasional lapses. And the boys are in better control than the girls in that regard."

One problem that occurred when the program started proved to be beneficial, the girls complained the boys were "privileged characters," that they were under less supervision.

Levine said the boys were less supervised, just fewer of them to watch, but that the complaint served as a chance to bring the boys and girls and staff together to discuss mutual problems.

Under the dual concept, each elementary school in a district and the high school there, have their own school boards and their own administrators. Under a unit district, one board and one administrator control all schools in the district, regardless of the size or numbers of schools involved.

switch to unit district operation. The oldest lure offered dual districts is in the financial benefits of state aid. Presently, Medlock said, a dual district must levy a total of $1.74 per $100 assessed valuation, in order to qualify for the same amount of state aid for which a unit district would have to levy on $1.08 per $100.

More Economical
The unit concept, which is more economical as well as providing more uniformity of standards within a given district, has been adopted most widely in a belt through the center of the state, Medlock said. At both the northern and southern sections of Illinois, clusters of dual units still remain, though representatives from Medlock's office have visited some of these, on request, to explain the advantages of consolidation and urge the

Clerks' Second Year Raise is Effective

A salary increase of 13 cents per hour for approximately 350 members of the Retail Store Employees Union Local 435 became effective here Monday upon expiration of Phase I of the government's wage and price freeze.

The increase is the second step in a salary schedule approved a year ago in a new three-year contract negotiated by the Associated Retailers of Granite City and the union.

Announcement of the increase this week was made jointly by Betty Sheppard, secretary-treasurer of the union; Maurice Rich, chairman of the negotiating committee for the Associated Retailers; and Jack Falk, Harrisburg, Ill., secretary-treasurer of the union's district council of Southern Illinois.

Last year's contract provided for a raise of 15 cents an hour effective Oct. 1, 1970; 13 cents per hour on Oct. 1 this year and 12 cents on Oct. 1 next year.

This year's increase was held up, however, by the wage and price freeze which was initiated Aug. 14. The employees for which the raise is effective do not include grocery market workers.

PLAN CHRISTMAS PARTY

Mrs. LaVern Hammond, 2009 Richmond Ave., was hostess for the November meeting of the Double Five Club which observed the birthday of Mrs. Joann Imboden. The honoree was presented with a gift from her "secret pal."

Those present selected meetings to serve as hostesses, and plans were made for their annual Christmas party that will be a dinner and the theatre Dec. 13. Following a social hour, Mrs. Hammond served a luncheon from a table decorated in a Thanksgiving theme.

Attending were Mesdames Judy Jones, Sandy Cuvier, Beverly McKriven, Joanne Miles, Carmen Grider and those mentioned.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED

The Octavia Birthday club met in the home of Mrs. Mary Fryntko, 2622 State St., Tuesday afternoon. The anniversary of Mrs. Virginia Mariette was observed. She was presented with a decorated cake and a gift on behalf of the members. The hostess used a Harvest theme in the table appointment. A large cake, following a bowling motif, served as a centerpiece. Plans were made for the annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Mariette, 2300 Clinton Dr., Dec. 14.

The ladies, who are associated with the Early Bird bowling league, heard a book review, "The Bowler on a Six," and dinner was served to those named and Mrs. Lorraine Gilmore, Mrs. Vivian Davis, Mrs. Shirley Murphy, Mrs. Doris Stotz and Miss Ann Marie Jarrett.

KOFFEE KLATCHERS DISCUSS NEW RODEO

The November meeting of the Koffee Klatchers Social club was held Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Olivia Kunne-mann, 2005 Madison Ave., and the members discussed new rules and regulations to become effective in January.

Mrs. Mary Rita Ahlers received a gift from her secret pal in honor of her birthday and a white elephant gift exchange was held. Reservations were turned in for a Christmas party at Camp Lakota for the Neighborhood Three Girl Scout Leaders, of which the ladies are former members.

Mrs. Joan Yetter, secretary-treasurer, spoke on the club dues. Each member will contribute towards a gift for the birthday observers rather than an individual gift and names will be drawn for a gift exchange annually. Mrs. Marcella Obranovich, 1810 Second St., Madison, will be hostess for the Dec. 14 meeting and Christmas party and names of secret pals will be revealed.

The table appointment was in a Thanksgiving theme with a horn of plenty filled with fruit and branched crystal candelabras with avocado green tapers. A traditional Thanksgiving dinner was served to Mesdames Ahlers, Obranovich, Yetter, Helen Bertacchi, Margaret Brever, Carmen Grider, Allene Moore, Helen Santagato and Doris Stotz.

BIBLE CLASS DEVOTIONAL

The Phebian Bible Class held a meeting and devotional program Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Cussie Hessman, 2317 Winters Drive, with eight members present. The program began with a hymn, "Take the Name of Jesus with You," led by the teacher, Mrs. Stella Rushing, and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. Lorna Hutson.

President Mrs. Mae Williams was in charge of the business meeting and reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Hutson. Mrs. Hessman, treasurer, and Mrs. Beatrice Henry told of cards and letters sent this month. Mrs. Henry gave the monthly devotional from John 3:16. Plans were made for a Christmas party and dinner at the church next month. The members will bring their husbands as guests.

Mrs. Rushing read a poem, "Sick and Tired," and Mrs. Cora Cruise read one for the holiday season entitled, "Thanksgiving." Mrs. Rushing closed the program with a prayer. Others present were Mrs. Della Hubbs and Mrs. Elizabeth Knight.

PLAY, AWARDS PRESENTED AT PACK 20 MEET

A Thanksgiving play and an awards presentation highlighted the November meeting of Cub Pack 20 at Webster School Tuesday evening. Approximately 80 scouts, parents and guests were present. Special guest was the district commissioner, Ted Scrum, who spoke to the Cubs on the scouting program. Scrum expressed his appreciation for all the adults who assisted with establishing the pack. Den One mothers Mrs. Barbara Schwertman and Mrs.

Christine Cox performed a flag ceremony to open the program. Cubs participating were caller, William Skinner Jr.; flag bearers, Danny Wright and Melvin Carriac; and color guards, Perry Jones and Mike Frazier. Several of the Cubs participated in an "America" tribute, as each boy entered carrying a letter to spell out America, he told what he represented. Frank Schwertman Jr., Brian Bullard, Joseph Jakub, Richard Cox, Steve Naler, Danny Reed and John Moody Jr., and Bill Skinner, led the guests in the pledges.

Mrs. Schwertman introduced Eugene Miller, cubmaster Chester Brannaman and committee-men Vincent Scrum, Isaac Pasley and Vernon Cox. Welcomed were two new prospective den mothers, Mrs. Dorothy Walker and Mrs. Dorothy Clark and three new Cubs, Mike Smith, Charles Clark and Joseph Blevis.

During the awards presentation, the following boys received their Bobcats: Danny Reed, Clifford Hamilton, Richard Cox, Steve Naler and Perry Jones of Den One; Mark Bobbs, Jerry Hurley and Mark Pasley of Den Two; leaders Mrs. Sereda Pasley and Mrs. Lucy Link, Chester Brannaman during a meeting held on the second Tuesday of each month.

Den Two presented a skit on Thanksgiving and each den displayed articles on the holiday which they had made. They also displayed individual den flags. Plans were made for a Christmas program Dec. 21 and the parents were invited to attend the monthly Roundtable meetings held on the second Tuesday of each month.

All the Cubs and Webelos joined in a living circle to sing, "Goodnight Cub Scouts." Refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

RUTH CLASS PLANS CHRISTMAS EVENTS

Mrs. Zowandafay Smolich, 3706 Fair Oaks Drive, entertained members of the Ruth Class of Third Baptist Church Tuesday night. Mrs. Thelma Peterson, Outreach leader, was in charge.

Plans were made to send cookies and cards to a service member of the church in observance of the Christmas season. Mrs. Nellis Moske presented the devotion, "The Church Grows in Numbers and Powers." Mrs. Martha Rochester offered prayer, and new membership books were distributed. Several class members read correspondence they received from the class's adopted child at the Carmi Children's Home, acknowledging cards and gifts received on her 13th birthday. Group captains reported and plans were made to have the Class Christmas party on Dec. 21, at the home of Mrs. Julia Carmack, 2740 Grand Ave. Exchange gifts are to be hand-made articles.

Games were led by Mrs. Millie Poplachak, and Mrs. Dorothy Born, and Mrs. Ivan Grankan-off won prizes.

The hostess served a dessert course to those mentioned and Mesdames Delma Elmore, Vi Wallace, and Julia McLean. The next regular monthly meeting will be held Jan. 18, in the home of Mrs. Thelma Peterson, 3222 Princeton.

PEACE LUTHERAN WOMEN PLAN HOLIDAY ACTIVITIES

The Church Women of Peace Lutheran Church met Tuesday night with Mrs. Marieta Knappczyk, 2829 Fortitude Drive, to complete plans for their holiday activities.

Mrs. Carol Gendron, president, gave the opening devotion, "Lord, Keep Me At It." She also reported on the World Community Day, sponsored by the Church Women United.

Mrs. Joyce Lawson reported on a visitation to the Colonades Nursing Home, when she and Mrs. Gendron met Tuesday afternoon centerpieces to the residents.

Mrs. Dagnar Phoenix, Mrs. Chris Chernoff and Mrs. Marlotte Schocker will be in charge of preparing Christmas gifts for church members.

Mrs. Inge Modric will be the new Christian Life Chairman, replacing Mrs. Barbara Wright who has moved to Troy. Mrs. Modric will be in charge of collecting Betty Crocker coupons to be used to purchase additional table linens for the church.

A request for children's and women's coats for distribution by the "Neatly New" clothing center, sponsored by the Church Women United, was made. Anyone with items may take them to Mrs. Gendrons home.

Plans were made for the Lutheran Church Women to serve refreshments following the Wednesday, Dec. 15, Advent service at the church. Mrs. Elizabeth Messerschmidt, Mrs. Marieta Knappczyk and Mrs. Elsie Unger will be chairman of the affair.

The group will make a monetary gift to the church, and will hold a "Caroling Party" for all families of the church on Sunday, Dec. 19, from 5 to 7 p.m. The event will precede the two-hour Church Christmas program. Mrs. Eloyious Kinder will handle arrangements for the caroling.

Members will visit shut-ins Dec. 18 and then gather at the home of Mrs. Joyce Lawson, 3009 Yale Drive, where they will visit with her mother, Mrs. Frances Bogar, and will hold their holiday party. A $1 gift exchange will take place.

Mrs. Betty Wittig, was in charge of the topic for the evening, "Role of the Christian Women As A Church Member." Refreshments were served to those mentioned and Mrs. Fay Miller and Mrs. Rachel Larsen.

MISS ZENIK GUEST AT BRIDAL SHOWER

Miss Cathy Zenik was guest of honor at a pre-bridal shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jo Ann Zatti, 3208 Willow Ave. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Zatti were Miss Jean Smolar and Miss Chris Zenik.

Gifts were opened and games were played, with prizes presented to Jean Smolar, Chris Koglin, Blanche Reimers, Vera Carey and Esther Davis.

Miss Zenik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zenik, is a student at SIU-SW, where she also is employed in the office, will become the bride of William Reimers on Dec. 23 at services at Nameoki United Methodist Church. DANGER OF DRUGS

PTA MEETING TOPIC

"Danger of Drugs in the Community" was the topic at the November meeting of the Marshall School PTA Tuesday evening by guest speaker Robert Burroughs, drug counselor for the Co-Ordinated Youth program. President Bill Schreiber gave the welcoming address and Brownie Troop 110L, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Schreiber and Mrs. Mary Haron, presented a flag ceremony. The scouts led the unit in the pledge of allegiance and singing, "God Bless America." In the ceremony were called Pam Shelley, bearers Ann Schreiber and Ginger Castleton, and color guards Patty Black, Debbie Reading, Lisa Berger, Kim H. A. v. r. n., Maryemly Wilson, Becky Schmidt, Renee Scallion, Sherri Clineau.

Mrs. Brokaw's first grade class had the largest percentage of parents in attendance. Secretary-protem Mrs. Marilyn Smith gave a report on a radio show which the unit members attended Nov. 18. A financial summary was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Karen Ambuehl. Mrs. Ann Osburn, chairman of the Feb. 17 winter carnival, asked for workers for the annual event. Volunteers may contact the chairman or any executive board officer. The unit also discussed ways to encourage a better membership enrollment. Concluding the program, Mr. Burroughs spoke on various phases of the drug problem, noting that alcohol is considered in the drug problems. Schreiber commented on the statistics of drug users in a recent survey.

Mrs. Judy Webb, hospitality chairman, was assisted at serving refreshments by the 3rd and 4th grade room mothers and Susan Black and JoAnn Ortiz, juniors of Troop 700, and leaders Mrs. Jo Stephens and Mrs. Rosemarie Ortiz. The tables were decorated in the holiday decor with autumn floral centerpieces, turkeys, corn stalks and candleholders. Crepe streamers completed the festive motif.

TROOP 117 PLANS

FUND-RAISING EVENTS
Senior Troop 117 of Neighborhood 3, District 4, met in the home of their advisor, Mrs. Joan Oram, 2004 Wilson Ave., Tuesday evening to make arrangements for several fund-raising projects that will supplement a tour of the Ozarks and possibly Washington, D. C.

The scouts discussed the annual Neighborhood 3 Festival of Giving which they will co-ordinate. The affair will be held at Nameoki School Dec. 12 from 1:30 p.m., using a foreign custom theme. Several troops in the neighborhood will enact and narrate how the custom of Christmas began in other countries. Parents are invited to attend. Each troop will prepare a decorated basket filled with food articles and staples to be distributed by the Protestant Welfare, Catholic Charities, Red Cross and Salvation Army. Also discussed was a breakfast with Santa Claus, set for Dec. 4-11-18 at Hope Lutheran Church from 9-11 a.m. at a cost of $1. If a photo of Santa and scout is desired, $1.50 will be charged. The program also will include a play, "The Three Bears," enacted by the seniors and a song festival will be held. Troops in District 4 interested in helping the seniors finance their extended trips may contact any member or Mrs. Oram for additional information.

Special Memorial Service Sunday for Dr. A. R. Lynn

A special memorial service will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday at the First United Presbyterian Church in honor of the late Rev. Dr. A. R. Lynn, pastor of the Granite City church for 21 years prior to his retirement 12 years ago.

The Rev. Dr. E. Russell Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Kansas City, Kan., one of Rev. Lynn's sons, will be the principal speaker.

Special music at the Sunday services will be provided by the Sanctuary Choir of the church with Keith Curtis as soloist. Arrangements for the service are under the direction of Ernest Veith and his committee which has established a memorial fund as a tribute to the minister who served this community for so many years. All contributions are to be sent to the Abiding Memorial Fund, which Rev. Lynn originated, at the local church.

The Rev. Dr. Lynn died Sept. 26 at St. Joseph's Hospital in Alton. He had served as associate pastor, the Alton First United Presbyterian Church since his retirement.

He was a member of the Madison County Community Mental Health Board, a past president of the Granite City Rotary Club and past governor of Rotary District 646.

His wife, Mrs. Irene Lynn, died July 4 this year, a day before the wreckage of a plane in which their grandson, Robert

James Quinlan, 85,
Dies; Former Resident

James Quinlan, 85, of 507 Shipman St., Jerseyville, Ill., a former Quad-City resident for 48 years, died at 3:35 a.m. Wednesday at Jefferson Barracks Veterans Hospital, Mo. He had been hospitalized for the past month.

Mr. Quinlan was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church and belonged to VFW Post 1300.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Elsie Quinlan, and 13 foster children: Robert Hunter, an Alton resident, both of Alton; Charles Hunter, of Jacksonville; Robert Hunter, of Arrebell, both of Jerseyville; Melvin Hubert, Doris Martin and Shirley Nolen, all of Granite City.

Mildred Walker of Hartford; Ida Phillips, Brighton, Ill.; Alice Conyer, East Alton; Hetti Belle Walden, Medora, Ill.; Elizabeth Miller, Alton; 20 grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and several great-great-grandchildren. Five sisters, Mrs. Alice Walters, Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Sue McLaughlin, Wheaton, Ill., Mrs. Julia Pauletic, Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Clara Rysack, Portland, Ore., and Miss Marjorie Quinlan, Los Angeles, Calif.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Helping Others to Be Lecture Topic

How important is spiritual perception in learning to help others wisely and acceptably? Colonel William Little, C.S.B., of Washington, D.C., will share some insights on this question in a public lecture here Sunday.

"Often we've tried to help others," he says "and found our help rejected or ineffective. But this failure hasn't stifled the desire to help. It's a part of us — it's almost as important a part of us as breathing."

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Colonel Little has traveled widely. He will speak under the auspices of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in the church edifice, 2660 Delmar Ave., at 3:30 p.m. Captain Charles James will introduce him.

Salem Dance Students Attend 1-Day Workshop

Four students of the Salem School of Dance attended a one-day workshop at the Sheraton Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis where they participated in tap, ballet, and jazz classes.

Instructors for the day were David Howard, Director of the Harkness School of Ballet in New York, and Ken Ploss, former choreographer at the Municipal Opera. Students attending were Laura and Lisa McKee, Marilyn Szczepaniak, and Bonnie Luebert. Mrs. Salem attended the teacher session of the workshop that same day.

Fire Damages Home

Fire caused an estimated $300 damage to the basement of the home of Samuel D. Brawley, 2326 Edison Ave., at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday. The cause of the fire has not been determined. Granite City firemen were on the scene 50 minutes.

Enrollment Pattern Changing at SIU-SW

The pattern of student enrollment at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern is changing from an emphasis on freshman and sophomore years to the junior and senior levels, according to a study made by the provost's office.

Full freshman enrollment is down 18.7% and sophomore enrollment is down 5.7% from 1970. However, junior and senior enrollment gained 7.3% over the 1970 figures.

Despite a decline in total enrollment, the first since the campus opened, the number of students enrolled full time set a new high of 8,712. Total enrollment by headcount is 12,556. The study attributes the enrollment pattern change to two possible factors, the stagnant economy and the growth of area junior colleges. Since most part-time students at both the graduate and undergraduate levels are generally working men and women who did not receive expected pay increases this year, the enrollment drops in these categories may be attributed to dwindling personal resources, the study says.

The economic situation also may have contributed to the increase in full-time enrollment with students carrying heavier loads to minimize the annual cost of attending the university.

BALED CANS were turned into high quality steel during a demonstration at Granite City Steel Company's basic oxygen furnace Monday afternoon. Approximately 400,000 cans, shown here in a charging box, were dumped into the furnace with molten pig iron, scrap and cast iron and were refined into steel for new cars and other products. The recycling of steel and primary metals is foreseen as one of the most important elements of salvaging waste materials as part of cleaning up the environment.

3 Guns, Coins Stolen

A .38 and a .45 caliber revolver, an automatic pistol and $5 in coins were stolen from a desk in the burglary of the law office of Harry Hartman, 2800 State St., after 5 p.m. Sunday, he reported Monday. Entry was gained by forcing a boarded window.

400,000 Discarded Cans Turned into Steel In Demonstration of Recycling Potential

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The recipe was a bit unusual but the batch turned out beautifully as 343,000 pounds of molten en pig iron, 10,000 pounds of cast iron, 160,800 pounds of scrap metal and 25,000 pounds of beer and soft-drink cans were dumped into one of the giant basic oxygen furnaces at Granite City Steel Co. Monday.

Pure oxygen was forced into the molten mixture as it was heated to 3,000 degrees and the result was 235 tons of high quality carbon steel.

The demonstration was to stress the practicality of recycling steel cans into primary metal.

Present were officials of Granite City and National Steel Companies, representatives of several beer and soft drink manufacturing companies, can companies, steel buyers and newsmen. The event marked the first time news cameras had been permitted into the BOF facility.

The recycling began as 400,000 empty steel cans, compressed into giant blocks, were loaded into the BOF charging box and dumped into the giant furnace. The scrap and cast iron followed and an enormous ladle of glowing pig iron from the blast furnace was poured into the furnace.

Eliminate Impurities
A water-cooled oxygen lance was lowered into the molten mixture and high purity oxygen was blown into the metal at supersonic speed as lime was added to collect and carry off impurities. The oxygen combined with carbon and other impurities to drive them from the steel.

Approximately 15 minutes later the furnace was tilted and the molten steel was poured into ladle. The ladle dumped the glowing steel into molds destined for tile rolling and blooming mills to become finished rolled steel.

The rolled steel will be shipped to manufacturers and will be made into new cans and other products, completing the cycle.

The recycling can program was inaugurated by domestic steel companies last June and since that time 2.3-million cans have been recycled.

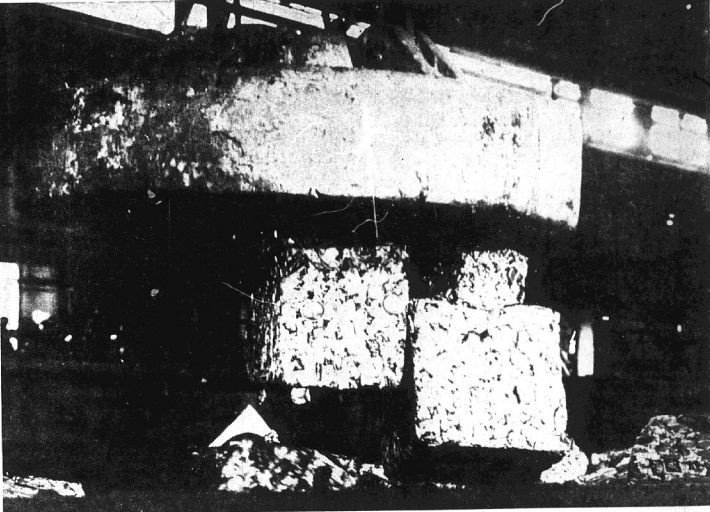

There are approximately 80 can collection centers in operation at steel plants throughout the country including one at the BOF main gate on 20th Street at the electric traffic signal. There also are 165 can collection centers at can companies throughout the country.

Cans Collected

ONE SOLUTION to environmental pollution is the recycling of used cans and other metal waste, officials of Granite City Steel Co. and National Steel Co., explained during a recycling demonstration here Monday afternoon. Displaying a bale of cans prior to recycling it into steel were, from left, Donald F. Cairns, GC Steel vice-president; Nicholas P. Veeder, chief executive of Granite City Steel Co., and Fred Tucker, vice-president of environmental control for National Steel Co.

WHAT ONCE WAS TRASH is becoming a valuable resource in steelmaking as metal beer and soft drink cans are being recycled into steel. The recycling process was demonstrated for representatives of several companies and for newsmen at the Granite City Steel Co. basic oxygen furnace facility Monday. Here/a... electromagnet lifts several bales of cans from a railroad car and starts them on their way to the furnace.

Truck, Auto Collide

A Salvation Army truck driven by Glen A. McDowell, St. Louis, and an auto driven by Harold A. Woodruff, 2429 E. 23rd St., were involved in an accident Monday at Niedringhaus and Madison avenues.

Chat Placed in Tank

Mrs. James Thurman, 1955 Joy Ave., reported Monday that someone poured white chat into the gasoline tank of her auto parked at the rear of her home during the night.

Workshops for English
Teachers to Begin

A series of workshops for English teachers interested in materials and methods for teaching English to students of minority backgrounds will be held at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern every Saturday through Dec. 11.

The workshops are sponsored by the English faculty in the Experiment in Higher Education (EHE), a unit of SIU-SW, and coordinated by Philip Anala, an EHE instructor. Each workshop session will be directed by a consultant in linguistics, composition, reading, and testing and evaluation, according to Anala. He said two sessions have been held for specially invited teachers, but because of the response, "the sessions will be open to all English teachers in the area."

Madison Youth Tells View
As a First-Time Voter

Bill Fox, 18, son of Mrs. Dina Fox of 814 Madison Ave., Madison has been selected as one of six youthful first-time voters in the United States to express their opinions on what they want in a presidential candidate.

Published in this month's issue of Senior Scholastic magazine, a current affairs publication used extensively in high schools throughout the country, Fox quoted:

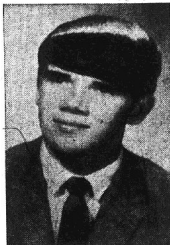

"I'm on the conservative side. I feel the most important quality in a Presidential candidate is that he follows through on what he says."

"When I vote, I'll be voting for the one who, by his past actions and what he says, will be doing the best for me as an individual and the country as a whole."

Just Watching
"Right now I'm just watching the situation, but I will be voting in 1972."

"A lot of people favor Senator Muskie now, but he said no black man could run for Vice-President and win. He makes it sound as if the people are bigoted. That doesn't appeal to me, as I'm trying not to be prejudiced. One of the other candidates said that all draft deserters should be given amnesty, and so far as I'm concerned, such a view point is rather irresponsible, too."

Fox plans to enter pre-law classes at SIU-SW and hopes to go into politics.

Marked Photo
BILL FOX

Last week he was elected treasurer of the Madison High School senior class. He has been active in Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by the Madison Lions Club and police, where he began to become interested in politics. Bill has tasted the sweet fruits of victory in elections, and also has tasted the bitterness of defeat, having both won and lost in campaigning for office in "10-4."

Heads Camping Society
Against opposition, Fox has managed to be elected and re-elected Chief of the Unifox (Quad-City) Chapter of the Order of the Arrow, the national Scout honor camping society with 250 members in this area.

He participated in the last election for Mayor in Madison, and the election of a sheriff, by putting out signs, posters and distributing literature during the campaign.

Canadian Ann Murray Wins American Hearts

By JUDY HUGG
Copy News Service

It was just a little over a year ago that Ann Murray stepped across the border of her native Canada into the hearts of many Americans.

As of today, the Capitol recording artist has become one of a handful of truly up and coming female contemporary stars.

The pretty blonde and talented Ann left as a superstar, but it didn't take long for her presence to be felt here.

Besides the aforementioned qualifications needed for success, which she fills quite nicely, Miss Murray has the ability to take another artist's song and do it plenty of justice. This coupled with the fact that she is equally at home in both country and pop music leads one to expect even more from her in time to come.

Take, for example, her latest release on the Capitol label entitled "Talk It Over In The Morning."

The latter contains such songs as "Destiny" by Jose Feliciano, "You've Got A Friend" by Carole King and Gordon Lightfoot's "Cotton Jenny," all done well in Ann's own style.

At first, for those unfamiliar with Ann's one might mistake her voice for that of a young fellow. But listen to a couple of her songs and you'll find a quality of truly remarkable and interesting mellowness that explains her faultless delivery.

Her strong and full voice sings out well on songs of such need, yet she has a wonderful warm sensitivity that is the key to her success.

Speaking of success, however, we are reminded of her very first really big hit, "Snowbird." This was the song that enabled her to become the first Canadian gal to earn a gold record from RIAA (Record Industry Association of America).

It also placed her on the Glen Campbell Show as a regular and earned her the public's attention and admiration.

Looking into Miss Murray's credits, one finds them quite vast considering her short tenure in the United States. Just to name a few we find her, as mentioned, a regular with Glen, plus working with him on his engagements at the Las Vegas Hilton International Hotel for a four-week stint and also a week at the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles.

Other awards earned by Miss Murray include being named Top Female Newcomer by the Western Music Association and several influential trade magazines.

Grows as Tomboy

However, things have not always been so swinging for Ann. Born in the mining town of Springfield, Nova Scotia, she was the only girl out of six children.

Growing up as a tomboy, more comfortable in shorts and blue jeans, led her into the University of New Brunswick where she graduated with a bachelor's degree in physical education.

It took only a year of teaching on Prince Edward Island for Ann to change her mind about her career and enter the field of music.

Like most stars today, she started gigging in small concerts and clubs, then went into local television, which led her to record her first two albums.

Even though Miss Murray is spending a great deal of her time in America, she's not a forgotten lady back home in Canada. Just recently she was presented three coveted Juno Awards for Best Single of the Year, "Snowbird", Best Album, "This Way Is My Way," and Best Female Vocalist of the Year.

Despite her instant success, Ann is wearing her fame well. She remains sincere and has a straightforward honesty that is sure to bring her more and more into focus.

ALL ABOUT ALBUMS

Going from Chicago's jazz-funk hit "Does Anybody Really Know What Time It Is?" to the First Movement of Mozart's "Symphony No. 40 in G Minor" is quite a transition, but Grant Green does it with his guitar, and beautifully, in "Visions." On the Blue Note label of United Artists, "Visions" is a rare blend—Emanuel Rignetti at the electric bass, the good vibes of Billy Woodson, Idris Muhammad and Harold Cardwell on drums and Ray Armando playing the conga drums, and the clean, austere guitar of Grant Green. "Visions" is a mellow disc that

Benito Juarez
Once Was Poor
Mexican Orphan

Editor's Note: Benito Juarez, 1868-1913, was president of Mexico. He tried to destroy Mexican feudalism and make Mexico into a democratic federal republic. This is one of the most famous people were like in their teens.

By BETT ANDERSON
Copy News Service

Benito Juarez became president of Mexico. But he started out as a servant. An orphan, he lived in the village of Guadalupe, a small town, and otherwise mistreated him. Benito decided to run away to Oaxaca where a peasant could get an education if he apprenticed himself to work as a servant.

Benito, hungry, tired, clad in a coat made of palm leaves, was lucky. His sister, Josefa, was working for a wealthy family in Oaxaca.

They bought Benito a smock and a serape which was the traditional garb of a servant. Benito was a hard worker. He had shrewd, good food, clothes and a kind master. Best of all, he was soon apprenticed to a local bookbinder, which meant that he would be allowed to enter school.

That was his real goal. Benito stayed with his patron until he was 15. He studied hard, kept the patron's house spotlessly clean, chopped the groceries and cooked the meals. The bookbinder then arranged for Benito to enter the Seminary of Santa Cruz. It was the greatest thing that had ever happened to the teen-ager.

But this fine, conservative old school was not exactly what Benito had hoped for. The other students, son of wealthy white Mexicans, taunted the dark-skinned boy who was the only purebred Indian there. Even the teachers treated him as if he were an untouchable. He did look funny in his patched hand-me-downs which were much too large.

The result of his unhappy five years at the seminary was to change Benito into a quiet, lonely boy who hid his feelings. He became a stoic, refusing to let the students know how much they hurt him. Then he made a friend who loaned him books on science. They were a revelation to Benito and opened his eyes to a world of reason. When an Institute of Sciences and Arts was opened in Oaxaca, he left the old-fashioned teachings of the seminary and entered the new school. At the end of two years, Benito was actually appointed to the faculty.

Benito Juarez, the barefoot peasant boy who became a servant in order to get an education, eventually became governor of Oaxaca and then president of Mexico. He was instrumental in making Mexico a self-governing nation.

'Go Devils, Go'--VHS Girls Eager for Season

By KIM BOELLING

Nine junior and senior girls and a sophomore are waiting for Tuesday, Nov. 30, the opening night of the basketball season for Venice High School in a home game against Columbia.

For the past seven weeks muscles have been aching as the girls practiced and got back into condition for their leaps and cheers.

Summer was not a time for complete relaxation either as five of the girls spent a week at Vincennes University in Vincennes, Ind. Participating were varsity cheerleaders Annie Ruth Mosby, Maria Brawley, Joan McGarran, Cindy Guffey and junior varsity member Brenda Bailey.

Each day at camp included instruction in cheering, tumbling and pom-pom routines. The girls were awarded three ribbons on their cheering performance.

Varsity cheerleader Margie

Graham was unable to make the trip last summer, but she has been taught the lessons learned by the four who did. Junior varsity member Brenda has been busy instructing her partners, Linda Mosby, Gwen Gardner, Lottie Mosby and Karole Logan, on the new cheers and styles of cheerleading.

"Go Devils, Go" will be heard again in less than two weeks.

Pep Club Fun Day

120 Initiates Garbed As Athletes at Prather

Fun was the name of the game as Prather Junior High School initiated 120 students into the Prather Pep Club Friday.

The initiates donned various athletic attire from baseball suits to riding habits, from football uniforms to tennis outfits. The girls in their secer uniforms seemed to be a favorite with the boys.

One girl, completely outfitted in football garb including black gump under her eyes, quipped, "We would've won more games if they'd let us play."

The initiates gave various ideas for the initiation.

Prather cheers while doing jumping jacks in the cafeteria after lunch. In general the initiates had a ball all day.

Besides getting out to the games to cheer the boys, the Pep Club has other projects. They prepare food baskets for the families of needy students at Thanksgiving and Christmas. In the spring the entire Pep Club goes to see a Cardinal baseball game.

Miss Ginger Heisner, Pep Club sponsor, credits Julie Lloyd, a ninth grader, with the idea for the initiation.

Title I Personnel Attend Workshop

The importance of meeting the needs of Title I students through various techniques and media was stressed during a three-day workshop for Title I personnel held at Washington School, according to Mrs. Ruth Lahr, new Title I director of the Granite City School District.

Objective of the Title I program is to identify pupils with reading and learning difficulties in the early school years and assist them in experiencing success and therefore help them in avoiding future academic frustration, failure and possible drop-out before high school graduation.

Plan Thanksgiving Trip Ahead--Chief Viezer

There's a lot more to planning a Thanksgiving trip for the holiday ahead than just loading up your car and starting out—at least that's what Chief of Police Ronald J. Viezer contends.

According to the chief and the International Association of Chiefs of Police, it's equally important that both you and your car are ready for the road.

"You can get yourself ready," Chief Viezer says, "by getting plenty of rest the night before and by planning a sensible schedule to avoid peak traffic periods. As for your vehicle, have a competent mechanic check out every item of safety equipment — brakes, lights, tires, defroster, windshield wipers and washer."

Another good tip offered by the Chief is to keep your eye on the weather. "The first winter storms often hit us this time of year," he noted. "A driver should be prepared to delay his trip if severe weather is predicted."

Chief Viezer also emphasized the following fact: "Even though our department will be out in full force to help in emergencies, make sure your car's trunk contains a shovel, sand or rock salt, reinforced tire chains, booster cables, tow chains and two or three emergency lighting equipment."

After all, the chief concludes, these are just good, common sense precautions—whether for a holiday, or just a normal weekday.

Hill Sr. as hostess in her home, 1663 Third St. An Armistice Day theme was used in the table appointments. A dessert luncheon was served. Mrs. Fogle assisted the hostesses and gave the invocation.

Mrs. L. C. Harlan called the meeting to order. She used as her topic "Thanksgiving," taken from Ideals magazine. She spoke of the world hunger and read from Ezekiel. Topics were read by Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Arthur Burns and Mrs. Fogle in keeping with the program. Mrs. Louis Stovroff read a Thanksgiving Prayer. Mrs. Harlan gave the history and story of "The Advent." The meeting was closed with the reading of the World Day of Prayer and benediction by Mrs. Fogle. Mrs. Stovroff will hold the Christmas meeting in her home, 1522 Second St., on Dec. 16.

Navy Brothers Aboard Ship in W. Pacific

Navy Seaman Apprentice Robert E. McGinness, and his brother Navy Fireman John D. McGinness, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John W. McGinness of 125 Big Four, Mitchell, are in the Western Pacific aboard the San Diego based dock landing ship USS Monticello.

Enroute to the Western Pacific their ship visited Pearl Harbor, Nuku's Lofa (capitol of the tropical island kingdom of Tonga in the South Pacific), stopped in the Australian ports of Sydney and Fremantle and crossed the Equator.

At the Equator all Monticello crewmen who had never crossed the "Line" (Pollywogs) were initiated into the mythical order of Neptunus Rex and became "Shellbacks" in ceremonies observed by mariners since the Middle Ages.

Grand Jury Indicts 3 Over Crimes in Area

The Madison County Grand Jury returned nine indictments last week, naming three defendants charged in area crimes. They are:

Gerard J. DeMontmolin, charged with aggravated battery in the beating of Robert Perrin, 28, of Glen Carbon, on Oct. 21 in a tavern on Pontion Road.

Alvin Roy Lilly, 18, and Gerald Roy Wilson, 20, both of Glen Carbon, charged with attempted robbery of the purse of Betty J. Smith of Granite City on Oct. 23 at 23rd Street and Delmar Avenue.

GOP Leaders Urge Ogilvie To Announce Candidacy

Members of the Illinois Republican State Central Committee and GOP County chairmen from throughout the state have called on Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie to seek a second term as the state's chief executive.

State GOP Chairman Victor L. Smith said he has informed Ogilvie that all of the party's county chairmen and central committeemen have expressed their desire that he stand for re-election.

"I have urged the governor to announce his candidacy on the basis that he must be our party's standard bearer next year," Chairman Smith said.

"Discussions with party leaders in every section of Illinois during recent weeks make it clear that our party must run on the Ogilvie record in 1972."

"It is a record which has not been fully understood in some cases. But it is a record that demonstrates the courageous leadership of a governor who saw the problems of the state and made the difficult decisions required. He has met each challenge head-on, placing the welfare of the people of Illinois ahead of his own political popularity."

"It is going to be our job as party people to carry the record to the electorate. And I'm confident that when the people compare Gov. Ogilvie's record of performance with the phantoms of misstatements and distortions spread by the opposition they will return him to office," he said.

Smith pointed out that the record of the Ogilvie administration is not that of an individual alone, but a team effort. "GOP members in both houses of the legislature have been instrumental in shaping the progressive programs that have come about during this Republican administration," he said.

Smith said that each of the 102 county chairmen and the other 23 state central committeemen were contacted in recent weeks.

"They share my own enthusiasm for the excellent job the governor has done during his first three years in office, and for the leadership he has given our party."

Each realizes the need for a united Republican party in Illinois and the necessity to present a solid front so we can re-elect President Nixon and the entire Republican team. It is our feeling that Governor Ogilvie should head up the GOP ticket in Illinois in 1972," Smith said.

Big Market in Red China a Myth

PEKING—Communist China has hardly left the world know that it is ready to leave behind the isolation of a self-contained revolution days and already the world's businessmen are wooing what they see as a huge potential market.

Nearly a dozen industrial exhibits by various countries—East and West—are scheduled in Peking during the next 12 months.

And at least two countries, Britain and Austria, have indicated that they are interested in holding such exhibits in the Chinese capital.

Industrial exhibits for foreign countries are a rarity in Peking. The last such event took place in the autumn of 1949 when the French came with shiploads of machinery. The Chinese came and looked, but did not buy.

In fact, the French exhibitors were obliged to take the exhibit material back home with them.

Last summer Hungary showed medical and pharmaceutical supplies, in the hope of selling them to the Chinese. So far, no results have been made public.

Also on the list this year are East Germany, Romania, Yugoslavia, to be followed in 1972 by Denmark, Switzerland, Italy and Canada.

Whatever these countries have to offer China again, they will do well to keep their expectations down.

There are some very optimistic entrepreneurs, especially in the Western world, whose calculations go something like this: China, an underdeveloped country with between 700 and 800 million people, must have tremendous demands for everything from toothbrushes upward.

If only every foreigner who buys a foreign car, for example, has a TV set, that means 350 million sales.

On paper this certainly sounds beautiful, but the calculation is wrong.

China will hardly become a market for foreign goods and only a limited one for industrial goods.

To begin with, China today produces enough of all basic consumer goods. There are plans to go much beyond that.

In contrast to the Soviet Union or other East bloc countries—is in a position to keep its people happy with what it gives them, which it must be remembered, for millions of Chinese is much more than they had 20 years ago.

There is virtually no influence from the outside to make the people want luxury goods.

Besides, China's own products are of adequate quality, which cannot be said of many products made in other Communist-ruled countries.

At this stage, there are certainly no plans by the Chinese government to eventually substitute a sort of "people's automobile" for the currently used bicycle.

On the industrial level, China will import only those things which it cannot yet produce itself.

China's aim, however, is to become completely self-sufficient.

The Chinese today still shudder at the chaos left when the Soviets pulled out their technical experts and advisers. The left enormous industrial projects half finished, and the Chinese to their own initiative and ingenuity to complete what has been started.

They have no desire to ever run into a similar situation.

This is one reason why they preach what Chairman Mao Tse-tung has been preaching for a long time: "self-reliance."

This is also one of the causes for President Liu Shao-chi's fall. He advocated buying from abroad whatever China needed and produce with no plans to ever stand on its own two feet.

China has learned from its traumatic experience with the Russians "brotherly help."

China is determined to be independent politically as well as economically.

Economic independence means relying on imports only so long as it is absolutely necessary.

Thus, it seems, instead of being a potential market for foreign goods, China will take care of its own needs.

States or by any state on account of age."

Now the issue is whether students can register and vote in their college towns or must register in their home towns and go through the complications of absentee voting.

Many believe the resolution of this question—whether governments will make it easy or difficult for students to vote—will determine whether student voting will be heavy or light.

Traditionally, most states have determined whether students vote in their parents' home town unless he stated his intention to become a permanent resident of the college town or owned property there.

This was a relatively minor issue when 21 was the minimum voting age.

But now a vast new element has been added to the electorate—millions concentrated in a few thousand college communities.

"If they vote in their college towns, there is at least a possibility that a student body of 20,000 or more in a small community could pick the City Council, elect a classmate as sheriff and turn out the congressman."

Allard K. Lowenstein, who is leading a national drive to register young voters, estimates that 40 conservative House members might be unseated in favor of antiwar liberals if students could vote in their college towns.

But Lowenstein also believes that the young people's turnout will depend more on whether they are offered a choice of candidates than on the difficulty of voting.

Until a few years ago, students rarely got involved in local politics or community affairs.

But now they are spilling out to protest the war and poverty, take over campus buildings and move into community affairs.

In Berkeley, California, a nonstudent radical to win a share of City Council seats this year.

There is a fear in many college towns that if the students are permitted to vote there they will take over the town and raise taxes which they don't pay to finance plei-

Healthy Mass Transportation System Vital In Planning a Sound Rapid Transit Program

Although it might have been more logical for the Bi-State Development Agency to be the entity to handle rapid transit, along with mass transit, Bi-State was right when it pointed out last week that two transit agencies in St. Louis are probably one too many.

As Edward J. Delmore Jr., transportation committee chairman, noted, Bi-State has maintained and operated a rapid transit system for the entire metropolitan area since April 1, 1963. It has tried to give the best possible service at the least possible cost but has encountered decreasing patronage and increasing red ink.

"Currently, national planners assert that hold new transit systems are a necessity. Bi-State initiated, planned and obtained financing for a thorough mass transit study for this area," Delmore said in a letter to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

"Since this report was made public, your agency (East-West) has set up a new transit authority known as St. Louis Rapid Transit Authority, which has initiated various programs addressed solely to rapid transit. For this reason, our agency feels that we are now approaching a situation where we will have two transit agencies in the same physical area, thus producing a conflict of ideas and objectives."

"The civic and political leaders comprising the new authority maintain that it has a brighter future because of its seeming acceptance in the minds of citizens," Delmore said. The same supposition had been used when East-West was formed of primarily local-level government officials; such a structure was deemed more likely to secure grassroots public support than Bi-State, which is governed by five commissioners appointed by the Illinois governor and five chosen by the Missouri governor.

Delmore and the other commissioners have concluded that, since "improved mass transportation will be accomplished sooner and more efficiently with a single authority and with unity of support," East-West should take over Bi-State's ground transportation system on a basis to be worked out through negotiations. There would be no charge but the new owners would need to assume responsibility for $23,263,827 in revenue bonds and for the system's operating deficit. East-West responded by saying it could not accept the bus system without changes in the laws governing the Coordinating Council.

Bi-State's stewardship of the system created by 15 former bus firms is worthy of review. Eliminating all former "closed door" paravalle operations, it has developed 108 routes, 76 regular and 32 rush-hour express lines. It operated 20 million miles over these routes during the last calendar year, providing service seven days a week with an active bus fleet of 960 regular and school service vehicles.

If its offer to give away the bus system is accepted, Bi-State would continue to operate the Gateway Arch transportation system, which has already opened over two million visitors; Bi-State Parks Airport, a large general aviation facility; and the Granite City Harbor wharf and public terminal.

Regardless of which agency eventually operates the existing bus system, its continuation is vital to the success of any future rapid transit program. Bi-State's warning that the objective may be compromised if there is more than one transit agency should be given full and prompt attention.

Simon Has Wealth of Experience in Office Despite His Relative Youth

Chicago Sun-Times When the Democratic party's slatemakers meet next month they will be primarily interested in choosing candidates they believe will help them bring victory in next year's election.

Last week that two transit agencies in St. Louis are probably one too many.

He served in the Illinois House from 1965 to 1968 when he was elected to the Illinois Senate.

In 1968 he was elected lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket, while the state was electing Ogilvie to the governorship on the Republican ticket.

As lieutenant governor, Simon has had experience in the problems of the office itself, since he becomes acting governor on Ogilvie's absence from the state.

None of the other Democratic aspirants have had as many years of legislative or state experience.

The closest is Michael J. Howlett Jr., 37, who is serving his third four-year term as state auditor. Howlett has been in public life, acquiring himself well, since 1960.

David A. Foran, 47, has served as an assistant corporation counsel. From 1960 to 1968, he built a solid reputation as a gang-busting federal prosecutor in Chicago from 1968 to 1970.

He was kept in this position for 17 months by President Nixon although Foran is a Democrat.

Out of this field, Simon is clearly the logical choice for the Democratic state-making committee.

The fourth candidate, Daniel Walker, 49, did not ask for the Democratic support. A lawyer who has been intensely active in political and civic affairs, he is campaigning on an anti-political platform.

If a primary fight develops between whomsoever the Democratic slatemakers choose, Walker, the voters have a right to expect it to be constructively fought on the issues, which is what we are recommending.

Simon, we are recommending.

708 STILL SHOWS IT IS ANTI-MENTAL HEALTH To the Editor: It is my understanding that the Madison County Mental Health Board (708 Board) is designed to appropriate funds to the various county mental health services, such as the Mental Health Clinics and Specialized Services, and also appropriate funds for good mental health programs for Madison County.

This should mean that its members are charged with the responsibility of providing sufficient funds to establish and maintain adequate client-related services.

Their apparent attitude toward funding, however, raises many questions in my mind about their interest in funding effective programs.

For example, at the meeting on Nov. 9, one of the board members was complaining that it is ridiculous how each mental health clinic's budget has increased since the inception of the 708 Board.

He went on to say that the rising costs must be stopped and implied that he, as a member of the 708 Board, would be flexible enough to create any further increases.

The concern with rising costs is a real issue. Every agency should be operated economically.

The agencies, however, must plan to make their budgets expandable to meet the needs of increasing expenses in providing programs, and this should be expected.

Based on what this 708 member was saying, I concluded that he was more interested in reducing his funding of the county mental health services than in developing meaningful mental health programs which can fulfill the needs of any resident of Madison County.

Each board member should place the psychological needs of the county taxpayers on an equal priority with the money needs of the taxpayers.

This apparent attitude is a grave concern for my agency, which is the priority of the 708 Board.

The alternative priorities to which he was alluding are revenue from taxpayers and psychological needs of the taxpayers of Madison County.

Less emphasis seems to be placed on the psychological needs in that this 708 member appears to be saying that he does not want to appropriate money to meet the needs of the residents.

What if they elect a Town Council that gets carried away on this "economic kick" asks an Alexandria, Va., city official.

"They could make anti-pollution laws so stiff it could drive out factories," said the official.

Next: Recruiting young Republicans and young Democrats.

may serve to reduce the appropriate funding in the future because more people will have the opportunity to learn how to cope with their environment.

LOCAL TAXPAYER SCHOOL TEAMS WORTHY OF RESPECT, SUPPORT To the Editor: The football season fast becomes a memory, and the pattern of basketball enters our lives. I'd like some space to comment on these topics.

First, I'd like to thank the Granite City coaching staff and football team for their effort in producing a third consecutive winning season.

Based on our pre-season hopes, some might view the overall results as rather disappointing. But this season was a disappointment and confounded a lot of people, experts included.

The main thing is that the Warriors are once again a football team worthy of respect.

Second, I'd like to wish the basketball team a better season than Granite City had last year, and that's going some.

Last year's team was not only skilled and exciting; the players were courageous as well as anyone who saw the regional final with Alton, or the sectional game with East St. Louis, will agree.

But as good as last year's team was, it can't take the place of this year's team. The 708 team has the potential to surpass last year's achievements if the boys will just remember that nobody ever won a game with last year's record book.

My third and final comment will probably draw an angry rebuttal from someone, but I'll chance that.

If I think our basketball team last season suffered from a lack of dedicated adult supporters, and this lack occasionally resulted in sub-par performances by the team.

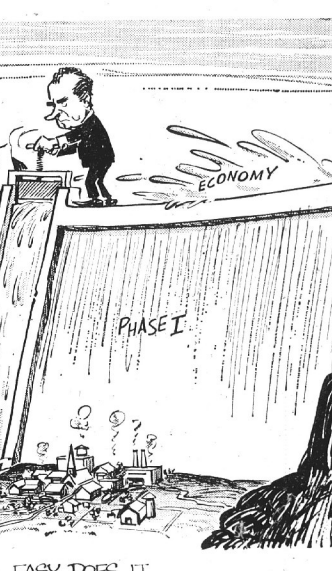

Witness the away game at Breese Miter Del. The team was up but down for four days; the result was a humiliating defeat for us.

Two facts to drive it home: I don't expect the kids on the team to perform with poise before an unimpassioned crowd.

Witness the game at East St. Louis. Afraid to go there at night? How must the team have felt, trying to do well in a near-empty gym, with only a handful of people for support, and most of those afraid to cheer?

So how about it, adults? If you've never seen a high school basketball game, make this the year; and if you have been a fair-weather fan in the past, try to be a faithful fan this year. And don't forget your throat lozenges.

For Pete's Sake.

Problems of Young Family Man Brought To Life in Drama at Washington Theatre

"For Pete's Sake," an unusual motion picture that combines comedy and drama with the excitement of motorcycle trail riding and tender love scenes premiered last evening at the Washington Theatre under the sponsorship of the Quad-City Ministerial Association.

Produced in wide screen and brilliant Eastman color, the film stars Robert Sampson and Pippa Scott in a mile-high Denver setting against the magnificent backdrop of the Rocky Mountains.

Tickets are available at the theatre box office before each show at $1.50 per person. Children's tickets cost 75 cents each.

Single performances are scheduled today at 7:30 p.m., and next Monday and Tuesday. Two shows will be given Friday at 7 and 9:15 p.m. Performances Saturday will be at 2 p.m., 4:15 p.m. and 9:15 p.m., and on Sunday at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Effect of Crusade

"For Pete's Sake" lives day-by-day with Pete Harper who, on a damp, gray Sunday afternoon, was one of a large crowd at Denver's Bear Stadium listening to a sermon during a Billy Graham Crusade.

He was there, "because it

AL FREEMAN JR.

PIPPA SCOTT

ROBERT SAMPSON

NICHOLAS SUROVY

was free," but Pete, his wife and son found themselves moved by the message and their lives drastically changed.

Faith becomes a working commodity for Pete, starting on the inside and growing up and out while he's pumping gas on a busy Denver street corner and while colliding with a gang of teenage motorcyclists who challenge him with the shattering honesty of today's youth — youth who force him to match his faith against the turbulent world of leather and dare-devil races over steep mountain trails.

"For Pete's Sake" brings a mixture of upcoming young talent and well-known character players to the screen.

Sampson, who portrays Pete Harper in the film, also starred in "The Restless Ones," which still is playing to capacity audiences throughout the world. His other film credits include

"Strangers When We Meet," "Up Periscope," "Fever in the Blood," "Five Against the House," "The Broken Land," "The Peacemaker" and "Young Jesse James."

The actor frequently has appeared on television in such productions as "Bonanza," "The Virginian," "Twilight Zone," "Tales of Wells Fargo," "Outer Limits," "Mr. Novak," and "Combat."

Pippa Scott as Pete's wife,

Marge, is widely-known for her Broadway appearances and starring roles in more than 200 major television shows. She was cast in a John Ford film, "The Searchers," and in "Amie Mame."

On Broadway, Miss Scott appeared in "Look Back in Anger," "Miss Lonelyhearts" and in the title role of "Mary, Mary."

Al Freeman Jr., and John Milford who work with Pete in his Denver service station are both veteran actors. Freeman starred on Broadway and in London in "Blues For Mr. Charlie" and in Sammy Davis Jr.'s "Golden Boy." His motion picture credits include "The Rebel Breed," "Torpedo Run," and "Sniper's Ridge." Milford is often seen in "Get Smart," "Perry Mason" and the "F.B.I." series, among other television presentations.

Another familiar face to television fans is Sam Groom, Pete's fresh-from-the-seminary minister, who has portrayed leading roles in "The Nurses," "The Defenders," "The Edge of Night," "Our Private World" and "Ben Casey."

Federal 'Clean Air' Funds Due This Week

Federal funds for establishment of a full-time Granite City Air Pollution Control Department are expected here this week, air board officials reported today.

Henry S. Blenick, chairman of the city's air pollution control board, was informed by Environmental Protection Agency officials in Chicago that files concerning a $30,000 grant in federal funds, which had been reported lost have been found and the funds should arrive here late this week.

Congressman Melvin Price, D-East St. Louis, informed city officials last week that the files had been lost by the EPA and that duplicates were being prepared. Price sent a telegram to William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the federal EPA, requesting prompt action in seeing that the funds were sent.

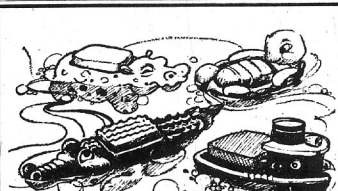

The files had been lost during a move of federal EPA offices from Wilmington, N. C., to Washington, D. C., officials told Granite City board members.

The full-time department, financed by the federal funds and matching local funds, was to have been in operation by Nov. 1. Professor Erwin C. Hoelcher, technical secretary of the Granite City board, is interviewing applicants with engineering degrees in anticipation of hiring a full-time air pollution control officer.

Need of Neighborhood Parks Stressed in Area Planning

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)

Environmental quality was the topic of discussion at several meetings held in this region. The need for neighborhood parks in the area was discussed at a conference, sponsored by the Illinois Metro East Corporation and Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, at the Round Table Restaurant in Collinsville. City and county officials, park board representatives and school officials heard Charles W. Pezold, of the University of Illinois, Robert Hookstra of SIMAPC, Harry Larimore, Carbondale Park District director, Diane Sobie of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and Robert L. Koepke of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern speak on the ways and means of developing neighborhood parks.

At a public hearing conducted by the Illinois Pollution Control Board in Granite City, industry representatives discussed proposals for requiring installation and operating permits for equipment capable of causing air pollution or designed to reduce or eliminate such pollution.

Industrial interests represented at the hearing included the Olin Corp., Illinois Power Co., Central Illinois Public Service Co., Shell Oil Co., Granite City Steel Co., the Illinois Oil Council and the Monsanto Corp.

In related news, Olin Corp. announced it will build a $6 million waste water treatment plant at the Olin Works in East Alton.

An East St. Louis nonprofit development group is planning a $12.5 million housing complex to be located behind Shop City Shopping Center and south of St. Clair Avenue.

Morris Campbell, trustee of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, was found guilty on two felony counts of theft of levee district funds. He will retain his seat on the board at least until sentencing, which has been postponed 30 days to permit the defense time to file post-trial motions. If Campbell's seat should be vacated, there would be no quorum and district affairs could not be handled.

Alhambra Township Supervisor Harold Landolt, the chairman of the Madison County Board of Supervisors for nine years, doesn't plan to seek reelection to the reappointed board in the Feb. 8 primary.

Landolt, who has represented Alhambra Township on the board 32 years, was elected chairman for the last nine years, despite sporadic opposition.

The board of trustees of Southwestern Health Facilities, Inc., has opened offices in Edwardsville and Collinsville for an area hospital building campaign. Offices are located at 100 S.

Moorman Resigns Circuit Court Post

Edward Moorman, who was appointed as an associate circuit judge last summer, has submitted his resignation to Chief Associate Judge Andrews Matosian effective Jan. 1.

Judge Moorman said he resigned because "I found out I prefer to be a practicing lawyer instead of a judge. I'm not quitting over any specific complaint, but I felt if I didn't make the break now, it would be harder to do so later."

Applications for the position will be accepted for a 30-day period after the effective date and formal notification of the Madison County Bar Association.

Ship next to the present landfill at 10:45 a.m. Dec. 2.

Fire Trustees Posted Appointment Bonds

The three incumbent members of the board of trustees of the Long Lake Fire Protection District whose terms have expired without reappointment over the past three years, posted necessary bonds with the county clerk's office when they originally were appointed, John Karlechik, one of the trustees, pointed out this week.

Karlechik said he thought it was necessary to point out that all three members of the board originally were bonded after it was disclosed that none of the trustees had been reappointed upon expiration of their terms and no further bonds had been posted to indicate reappointment had been made.

"The original reports implied that none of us had been bonded, and that is not true," Karlechik said. "All of us posted the required bonds."

He said he was unaware as to why no new appointments were made when their terms expired. Karlechik's term expired in 1968, that of Wilbur Engleke expired in 1969 and that of Thomas Dudley expired last year, according to records in the county clerk's office.

As a result the Nameoki Town Board, under new legislation, will appoint a board of trustees for the fire protection district. The district is a taxing agency which funds operations of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department.

BREWER MOTOR CO.
After we make it perfect, we keep it perfect.

The man you see working on the VW is a VW trained mechanic.
So when you touch your VW, he has to take apart and put back together our VW's perfectly.
The man standing over the mechanic is, naturally enough, his boss.
Besides standing over mechanics, he finds out what's wrong with a VW when it first comes in to a VW dealer. And he makes sure there's nothing wrong when it leaves.
So when your VW needs fixing, take it where there's a mechanic to make it perfect.
And another to say it is.

Bill Asks Tax Deferral on Education Cost

Washington—Senator Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., has introduced a bill to allow taxpayers to defer all or part of federal income taxes while bearing the expenses of higher education.

"Under the tax deferral plan," Percy said, "students would be eligible for a deferral of as much as $1,500 per academic year. Unlike a tax credit, the amount deferred, like a loan, must be paid back with interest at 7%. Repayments would be adjusted according to a taxpayer's income level, amounting to a 20% tax surcharge."

"The bill is designed to benefit middle income families," Percy said.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

He pointed out that a 1968 HEW study on student financial aid found that while ninety-four percent of the total student financial needs from the lowest income quartile was covered by grants, work study wages or loans, only 31 percent of the needs of those in the second highest income quartile was covered by formal aid programs.

"As a result of this concentration on lower income groups, often there is no financial assistance available for the student from a middle income family, whose needs are also great," Percy said.

Few Are Prepared
"Virtually all American parents hope that they can send their children to college," Percy said. "At a time when a bachelor's degree can cost between $10,000 and $20,000, relatively few families, even those with substantial incomes, are prepared in advance for a staggering financial burden of higher education."

"The price of a year on almost every campus has jumped by at least 50 percent over the last 10 years, passing the $4,000 per year mark at many private universities. Current projected college costs are growing faster than income and annual expenditures per student have been rising three times as fast as the cost of living."

"Our investment in the education of our children is an investment in our society," Percy said. "According to the latest Bureau of Census figures, the average lifetime earnings for high school graduates is $74,094. Those who have completed four years of college averaged $84,094 in lifetime earnings, and that figure increases to $89,119 for those with five or more years of college."

"An investment in higher education is an investment in people, the very best investment we can make for the future of our country."

NEW SALEM BAPTIST CHURCH at 1349 Klein St., Venice, was dedicated and used for the first time this week. The congregation held services in the old church at 208 Bremen St., then marched to the new location where dedication services were held. The church was built under the leadership of its former pastor, Rev. Seanes Boyce, now serving a congregation in St. Louis. Rev. Boyce returned to conduct the dedication services.

Walking Dan Walker Key Question in Primary Race

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield—Will Dan Walker stay in?

That's a prime Statehouse topic these days as the bandwagon continues to roll for Lt. Gov. Paul Simon in his apparently unstoppable drive for the Democratic nomination for governor.

It already is accepted at the Capitol that he has the nod from Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and automatically will receive the official endorsement from the Democratic slatemaking committee after the usual window dressing of interviewing other hopefuls.

Further strengthening the feeling that it's all over was the endorsement of Simon by the Marshall Field publications in Chicago, which usually line up behind the Democrats.

Beneath the Capitol Dome there is resignation in the camp of State Auditor Michael J. Howlett that Simon has the top spot and popular Mike will have to settle for secretary of state. No one here, or apparently in Chicago, which usually line up attorney Thomas S. Foran as a serious contender.

Walker Only Problem
That leaves walking Dan Walker as the only problem for Simon. Walker has insisted all along the trail that he will run for governor in the primary regardless and will not even go before the slatemakers.

But cynicism abounds in politics and there is a sizable body of opinion beneath the Statehouse Dome that believes that in the end Walker will bow to the inevitable.

Pressure already is mounting from various sectors of the Democratic establishment and rarely has any candidate of consequence in Illinois entered a race with the odds so staggering against him.

Despite his walking odyssey, Walker remains comparatively unknown Downstate, a deficiency that would be especially harmful in a race against Simon, who is exceedingly popular Downstate.

In Cook county Walker faces the herculean task of fighting the Daley machine, his job made even more discouraging by the fact that the press empire which might be expected to be sympathetic to an independent, already is lined up in Simon's corner.

Can't Beat Organization
Then there is the record of recent political history. No one can beat the Democratic organization in the primary.

The late Joseph D. Lohman, then state treasurer, tried it in 1970, and went down before Otto Kernin in the gubernatorial primary by 242,257 votes. Four years previously the late Morris B. Sachs failed by 128,355 votes against the then Daley choice, Herbert C. Paschen.

With all the cards stacked against him why should Walker persist? Offers of future rewards, a post in the new Democratic state or national administration, encouragement to run for some opening in the future, will and are undoubtedly being made. Why take the chance of a devastating clobbering that could ruin any chance of a political future?

The answer could rest with the political uncertainty of the times. One thing Statehouse politicians of both parties agree on is that 1973 is likely to be most unpredictable political year in history. The individual voters are increasingly independent and are influenced in their voting by new and strange factors.

Nobody would expect Walker to beat Simon, but he might make a far stronger race than anyone now suspects and thus emerge as a force to be reckoned with in the approaching post-Daley era. Perhaps that's why walking Walker may go on to run.
